3 TOP STABILIZERS TO MEET ON STEEL INDUSTRY DEMAND FOR HIGHER PRICES

Official Warning Walkout Would Kill All Hopes of Lifting Controls on Civilian Economy This Year.

WASHINGTON, March 22 (UP) —The three top stabilization officers will confer today over the key issue in the steel dispute—a price increase for the steel industry.

Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson was scheduled to confer with Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam and Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall amid official warnings that a steel strike would kill all hope of lifting controls on the civilian economy this year.

The officials planned to meet after receiving the full report of the Wage Stabilization Board, which has recommended a 17½-cent hourly pay boost and a union shop for the CIO United Steel Workers.

Strike Postponed.

The union yesterday postponed its threatened nation-wide strike for the fourth time, but warned it would call a walkout April 8 if an agreement based on the board's recommendations is not reached with the steelmakers.

A spokesman for Wilson said even a two-week strike would be a crippling blow to the nation. Counting time required to get furnaces back into production after a strike, he said, it would mean a loss of three weeks' output, or about 6,000,000 tons of steel.

"If that happens," the spokesman said, "it will set back the relaxation of steel controls by a year."

Informed sources believed President Truman eventually will have to decide how big a price boost the steel industry should get. There were reports that Wilson may fly to Key West, Fla., during the weekend to confer with Truman.

To Resume Talks.

Union and management representatives will resume negotiations Monday on a company-by-company basis. The wage board's proposals are not binding on either side, but the union has accepted them.

The steel companies told Wilson and Putnam at a New York meeting yesterday that the board's recommendations were "unfair" and "disruptive of the economy."

They said they would need a price increase of more than $12 a ton—almost one billion dollars a year—to cover the wage boost recommended by the board. Price officials estimate they would need only a little more than $4 a ton.

The steelmakers denounced also the board's recommendation for a union shop as "a long step backward in the age-old struggle for union recognition."

A union spokesman said Philip Murray, CIO president and also chief of the steel workers, would have no comment on the industry statement.

Criticism in Congress.

Meanwhile a storm brewed in Congress over the union shop issue.

The union shop would compel all steel workers to join the union. Most of them already belong and the union said it would not sign a new contract without a union shop provision. The industry opposes it.

Representative Barden (Dem.), North Carolina, chairman of the House Labor Committee, said there was "rather violent reaction" in the House over the Wage Stabilization Board union shop recommendation.

Barden said he is not against the union shop as such but rather against a Government board "recommending something which should only take place under free collective bargaining."

BIG 3 REPORTED READY TO TELL RUSSIA GERMANY'S EAST LINE CAN'T STAND

PARIS, March 22 (AP). FRANCE, Britain and the United States were reported today to have agreed to tell Soviet Russia they cannot recognize the present eastern boundary of Germany as permanent.

Germany's eastern boundary is formed by the Oder and the Neisse rivers. It was drawn up at the Potsdam conference of 1945 to give Russia and Poland administrative control over German territory farther east.

The Oder-Neisse line was one of the items believed to have been included in the projected reply to Russia's March 10 call for Big Four talks on a German peace treaty.

BAROMETER JUMPY AS WINDS REACH UP TO 45 M.P.H. HERE

Barometric pressure here this morning was "jumping up and down," Meteorologist Harry F. Wahlgren reported, as a result of a low pressure area in the south and a high one in Canada.

The barometer was decidedly unsteady between 6 and 7:30 a.m., a period during which a heavy, black cumulus cloud passed over the city and St. Louis county. Gusts of wind reached velocities of 45 miles an hour, but sustained winds were 25 miles an hour. No damage was reported in either the city or St. Louis county.

Rainfall here was relatively light, with .29 of an inch in the city between 5:30 p.m. yesterday and 9 a.m. today. Rainfall at Lambert-St. Louis Field was .13 of an inch. Heavy rains were reported in Southeast Missouri and Southern Illinois. At Cape Girardeau the 24-hour fall ending early today was 1.81 inches, at New Madrid, 1.71 inches and Cairo 1.85 inches.

Wahlgren said the center of the low pressure in Southeast Missouri was moving eastward. The forecast for St. Louis is for cloudy and colder weather, with rain and snow flurries. Low tomorrow morning is expected to be about 30 degrees.

FIRE ALARM OFFICE BLAZE IS LAID TO CARELESS SMOKING

Careless smoking, a favorite theme of fire prevention lectures, was listed today as the cause of a fire in the fire alarm office, on the fourth floor of City Hall.

When smoke appeared through the floor in the office, the four operators and dispatchers on duty thought there was fire in an electric cable.

A call was sent for firemen in the engine house at 314 South Twelfth street. The firemen used an extinguisher and said there was no damage.

HUSBAND BREAKS 'SAINT' CONTRACT; DIVORCE GRANTED

CLEVELAND, O., March 22 (UP)—Mrs. Harry M. Blakeley Jr., 37-year-old mother of two children, was granted a divorce yesterday because she charged her husband had violated a 12-item "articles of conduct" drafted to salvage their marriage.

The document, drawn up by attorney Morris Morganstern as a "legal document" was signed by Blakeley in September 1949. It included provisions obligating the husband to " . . . be debonair and gallant . . . tolerant and kind . . . generous to his wife's faults and liberal to her lapses. . . . husband shall not repeat his past transgressions . . . shall physically assert his love and concern for wife and take her out once a week . . . any violation shall be considered as admission of marital infractions."

"I never should have signed the rules," Blakeley grumbled. "A man would have to be saint to live up to them."

'RICHARD T. ROE' AGAIN PAYS $950 TAX IN BUFFALO

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 22 (UP)—Buffalo's anonymous taxpayer came through again this year.

"Richard T. Roe's" 1951 tax check turned up yesterday. It was for $950, the same as last year, and was mailed just before the deadline last Monday.

For 11 years now, Buffalo's bashful taxpayer whose identity is not known has followed this procedure.

This year's payment was a draft on a Buffalo bank, listing a fictitious remitter. Last year's was a draft on a Tonawanda (N.Y.) bank. Addresses given have included empty lots and locations in Lake Erie.

"Roe" now has more than $6000 credited to his account.

Elimination of a Distraction.

SAO PAULO, Brazil, March 22 (UP)—The chairman of the City Council ordered women stenographers today to wear uniforms because their "scandalously low-cut gowns disturb the city fathers and actually hinder their debates."

EISENHOWER AIDE IN U.S., BUT HAS NO NEWS ON WHEN CHIEF IS COMING

Gen. Gruenther Reports Europe Defense Gains Are Making It Harder Every Day for Aggressor to Attack.

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP) —Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther flew in today from headquarters of the Allied powers in Europe, bringing reports of improvement in European defense against Communism but no news on when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower may come home.

Gruenther, chief of staff in Eisenhower's command of the military forces of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is here for testimony to congressional committees. He was invited to testify on President Truman's request for $7,900,000,000 in mutual security funds.

A laugh and an "I don't know" was Gruenther's reply to reporters who asked him when Eisenhower might return, to take a more active part in the campaign to make him the Republican presidential nominee.

Asked whether Eisenhower himself knew, Gruenther said that "if he does, he hasn't communicated it to me."

On the military situation in Europe, he told the newspaper men:

"There are very definite improvements. The tide is flowing our way."

He also said it is becoming more difficult every day for an aggressor to attack, that "the curve is definitely upward."

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee decided last Monday to hear testimony from Gruenther. Senator McMahon (Dem.), Connecticut, proposed calling Eisenhower himself to testify on the foreign aid program, but no action has been taken on his suggestion.

Republicans who support Eisenhower for the presidential nomination opposed his return while he still is in uniform, on the grounds that such action would prevent him from declaring himself on controversial issues.

Eisenhower Could Ask to Be Relieved in Annual Report.

PARIS, March 22 (UP)—Reliable sources said today that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower probably will ask to be relieved of his Atlantic pact command within two weeks to campaign for the presidency.

They speculated that he might send his resignation to Washington along with his first annual report as supreme commander on or about April 2. Then he probably would return to the United States between mid-May and June 1.

Eisenhower himself had nothing to say on the question. He sped through a quick morning of conferences with members of his staff and was expected to spend a quiet weekend at his suburban villa.

EISENHOWER THANKS MINNESOTANS FOR BIG WRITE-IN VOTE

MINNEAPOLIS, March 22 (AP) —Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has sent his thanks to Minnesotans for their unprecedented write-in support of him in Tuesday's presidential primary.

In a cablegram to Bradshaw Mintener, chairman of Minnesotans for Eisenhower, the general said:

"Just before your telegram arrived, I released to the press an informal statement on the astonishing primary results in your state, but to you personally and to the more than 100,000 Minnesotans who paid me the great compliment of writing my name on the ballot, I send a very humble thank-you. "Mamie (Mrs. Eisenhower) joins me in the best of personal regards."

The message was signed "Ike."

Latest returns showed the general got 106,946 votes, compared with 128,605 for favorite son Harold E. Stassen in 3608 of the state's 3769 precincts.

WHOLESALE PRICE INDEX UP 0.2 PCT. IN WEEK

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP) —Large increases in prices on fresh fruits and vegetables, sugar and most grains pushed the Bureau of Labor Statistics' wholesale price index up 0.2 per cent in the week ended March 18.

The index stood at 111.8 per cent of the 1947-49 average, but still 2.8 per cent below the January 1951, level.

'BOOTHEEL' AREA STORM DEATHS PUT AT 15, WITH 66 OTHERS HURT

More Than 50 Rural Homes Reported Smashed or Damaged — Hospitals at Hayti, Blytheville Swamped.

By JOHN P. PORTER
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo., March 22—A sudden devastating tornado ripped a 12-mile path of destruction through the southeastern tip of Missouri killing at least 15 persons and injuring 66 others.

State highway patrolmen, deputy sheriffs and Red Cross workers searched through wrecked farm homes and rain-soaked cotton fields south of here Saturday for additional victims of the heavy storm, which roared into Missouri's "Bootheel" section from Arkansas shortly after 8 p.m. Friday.

Nine of the 15 known dead have been identified. They include Mrs. Melissa Bass of St. Louis, who had been visiting her daughter near Cooter, Mo., close to the Arkansas line.

Hospitals Swamped.

Hospitals at nearby Hayti, Mo., and Blytheville, Ark., were swamped with injured persons.

Mrs. Agatha Wilks, executive secretary of the Red Cross here, said 51 persons are in Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital at Hayti, where sunrooms had to be converted into wards to accommodate the injured, many of them children.

"Nobody is talking about what happened," she said. "They are too stunned to talk."

The tornado, accompanied by hail and heavy rain, struck briefly at Blytheville, about five miles south of the Missouri line, and then hit hard on the outskirts of Cooter, in Pemiscot county.

It then cut a path eastward to Cottonwood Point, a small Mississippi river community 10 miles south of here. More than 50 rural homes have been reported demolished or damaged, many of them housing large numbers of cotton field workers.

Homes Are Smashed.

Rescue workers said the twister smashed farm homes and buildings into heaps of soggy rubble. Automobiles and large trucks were overturned and tossed into weird positions. Trees were torn out of the ground by their roots, or cut off as if slashed by a huge bolo knife.

The railings of a steel bridge were ripped away. But he bridge remained.

Survivors said there had been heavy thunder and rain just before the twister struck.

Alf Green of Cottonwood Point, whose home was about a mile from the path of the tornado, said it then became "very, very still." He explained that the scene was lighted by flashes of lightning a few minutes later as the tornado ripped by.

"Houses were toppled over and blown to bits, and the fields were leveled, just like there had been an invisible claw," he said.

Mrs. Gilbert Blanchette explained how the twister demolished her farm home near Cooter. She, her husband, their three children and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hamlet of Blytheville were in the house. Her husband and Mrs. Hamlet were killed.

"It was shortly after 8 o'clock," she told the Post-Dispatch, "and it had been thundering and raining very hard. The Hamlets had been visiting us, and I urged them to stay until the storm was over.

'House Fell to Pieces.'

"Suddenly it became as quiet as a mouse. Then without any warning or noise, our house just fell to pieces. The next thing I knew was when I woke up in the ditch with my three children, about 30 yards away.

"I was lying on top of my children. I guess it was meant to be that way so I could protect them."

She said the home was leveled and two light pickup trucks, which had been parked nearby, had been tossed over the ditch and overturned.

Mrs. Bonnie Fennell, a Cottonwood Point housewife whose 9-month-old son was killed and whose husband was injured, said that when the wind started to blow just before the twister struck she thought it was just a "real March wind."

Wind Lifts House.

When the tornado hit, her two-room house was picked up and blown across a field, she related.

"The next thing I remember," Mrs. Fennell said, "we were out in the field all covered with boards.

"After the wind let up we went across the road to a store where they wrapped us in blankets. My shoes were gone—they had been blown right off me."

The Fennells were taken by

MORE THAN 1000 INJURED, DAMAGE RUNS TO MILLIONS IN SIX STATES

4 to 6 Twisters Wreak Havoc — Some Towns 'Laid Flat'—Communications Disrupted, Many Places Unreported.

By JAMES A. KEARNS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 22 —The casualty toll from tornadoes mounted to 211 dead and more than 1000 injured today as rescue crews searched the wreckage of homes smashed by winds twisting through sections of Arkansas, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Texas. It was estimated that property damage will run into millions of dollars.

A cluster of tornadoes began a devastating sweep yesterday afternoon in southwestern Arkansas. The cyclonic winds swirled northeastward into Tennessee and Mississippi and across the southeast corner of Missouri last night. Kentucky and Texas were hit early this morning.

The latest death count by states was: Arkansas, 148; Tennessee, 40; Missouri, 15; Mississippi, 8.

Communications Disrupted.

It was feared the death count was far from complete, since communications were disrupted and some devastated towns could not be reached by telephone.

Meteorologists at Tinker Air Force Base in Oklahoma, who had issued a warning of conditions favorable for tornadoes, said yesterday havoc was wrought by "four to six" twisters moving abreast in a northeasterly direction "like a line of drunken soldiers."

Some towns were "laid flat." In the Missouri Bootheel, approximately 50 rural homes were smashed along a stretch extending 10 to 12 miles. Trees were uprooted and automobiles and people were tossed about like straws.

Some Had No Warning.

Some victims saw the oncoming black, funnel-like cloud dipping to the earth before dark yesterday. Others had no advance warning as the tornadoes swooped down out of the night.

This morning lines of grief-stricken relatives formed at school houses and other improvised morgues to view the rows of bodies and make identifications.

Gov. Sid McMath of Arkansas declared an emergency, and several hundred National Guardsmen were called out to help dig dead and injured from the debris in towns around Searcy. Communities which were hard hit included Cotton Plant, Judsonia, Bald Knob and Dierks, and, farther south, England.

Like Huge Lawnmower.

The wind tore through Dierks like a huge lawnmower, plowing two paths through trees. This storm struck at 2:40 p.m.—that was when the twister hit H. H. Lott's house and his clock stopped.

Omer Henley, a truck driver, said the tornado at England sounded like "a hundred B-36s flying low" and the cloud "was the most perfectly shaped funnel you've ever seen."

D. C. Phipps was driving a truck near Judsonia when suddenly a house came flying across the highway and crashed into the vehicle. He emerged with scratches.

The Ray Jones family at Carlisle, Ark., was packed up ready to move when the house was hit. Two sons, Derald, 15 years old, and Doyne, 9, just home from school, were killed.

At Trumann, Ark., the wind picked up 7-month-old Carolyn Joan Stacy, carried her 150 feet and dropped her unhurt in a puddle of water. The father ran from the family's battered house and found the baby in a field. The mother was taken to a Memphis hospital with severe injuries.

For Arkansas this was the worst of many tornado disasters through the years. The previous record death toll in the state was 86 in a series of storms on June 5, 1916.

3 Twisters in Tennessee.

In Tennessee, three successive tornadoes smashed across the fringe of Dyersburg, a city of 11,000 and raked surrounding communities.

The first twister there came shortly before dark, hitting Fowkes, Bonicord and Edgewood. The second struck about three hours later, while rescue crews were working in the stricken area. This time the deadly cloud dipped down in South Dyersburg, skipped to RoEllen, just beyond the city limits, slammed Edgewood again and then struck Tennemo and Churchton. The third twister hit Broadmoor and Histon.

No reliable count of the injured was possible in the initial confusion. At least 50 persons were admitted to Baird-Brewer hospital, and a first-aid station was

43 KILLED IN CRASH OF DUTCH AIRLINER IN WEST GERMANY

4 Pulled From Blazing Wreckage of DC-6 Near Frankfurt — American Aboard.

FRANKFURT, Germany, March 22 (AP)—Forty-three persons perished today in the flaming wreckage of a Royal Dutch (KLM) airliner in a Frankfurt suburb. It was West Germany's worst plane disaster since the war.

Four of the 47 persons aboard escaped death, but two were not expected to survive their injuries.

United States Air Force officials who helped direct rescue work said the plane, a four-engined DC-6 inbound from Rome on a flight from Johannesburg, was carrying 37 passengers and a crew of 10. A partial passenger list released in Rome carried the name of an American, John Bickford, but no address.

The crash occurred two miles from Frankfurt's big Rhine-Main air base, where the plane was scheduled to land.

Cause Not Determined.

The cause was not determined. The day was gray but not foggy and the plane—named Queen Juliana—was making an instrument approach. The ship was the on the Queen had intended to use on her flight to Washington, where she is to start a state visit April 2.

A German truck driver, 39-year-old Willibald Hoffman, was credited with pulling at least four persons from the wreckage. He climbed inside despite the flames, cut safety belts with his pocket knife and passed the victims out to his companion, Konrad Beutel, and another man.

Firemen and rescue crews had to put down flames in the plane and in surrounding trees before the bodies of the dead could be removed. An Air Force chaplain stood by, giving blessings.

3 Cases of Gold on Plane.

Search crews dug from the wreckage three cases of gold consigned from Johannesburg to Amsterdam, also a book: "Point of No Return."

Two of the plane's four engines twisted off and fell into the woods about 150 yards before the plane crashed. Observers believed they might have been sheared off by tree tops.

The crew reported by radio to the airport when the plane was 4000 feet overhead. It was ordered to come down to 2000 feet, report again, get clearance and come in for its landing.

The 2000-foot report never came.

German forest guards saw the plane rip through the treetops and crash between trees.

STOVE GAS BLAST SENDS NEW YORKERS TO BOMB SHELTERS

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)— A gas explosion in midtown Manhattan, at busy Columbus Circle, created a bomb scare last night and sent some persons scurrying for air-raid shelters.

An invalid 72-year-old woman was killed in the explosion. Police said Mrs. Regina Oblatt apparently committed suicide by leaving on all five jets of her kitchen stove. Something touched off the illuminating gas.

Windows were smashed in nearby buildings overlooking Central Park. The explosion was heard a mile away. Tenants in nearby buildings ran to bomb shelters. Pedestrians gathered in exicited groups. Fire and police squads rushed to the Circle as crowds gathered.

Arkansas Folk Examine Long Rows Of Dead Hunting Missing Relatives

Searcy Crowded With Homeless — Church Only Unscathed Building in Judsonia.

By PETER B. MARTIN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SEARCY, Ark., March 22 — There was an eerie quiet in the strawberry country of White county here today, the quiet of destruction and human misery and awe before the power of the storm.

This normally is Saturday market day here in the county seat, about 50 miles northeast of Little Rock, but today the town was filled with residents of tornado-stricken nearby communities searching for temporary shelter until their ruined homes could be made livable again.

Others went to the undertaking establishments, seeking among the long rows of bodies the missing relatives and friends they hoped they would not find there. Hospitals were crowded with injured persons, and emergency first aid stations were set up throughout the area.

The injured were being treated also at Harding College, a Baptist church and the National Guard armory here. Doctors and Red Cross workers said more than 250 persons had been treated here, and others injured in the storm were being taken to Little Rock for treatment.

Thirty-five ambulances were sent here from Little Rock last night to assist in carrying the injured, and many light trucks and private automobiles were pressed into service to take the casualties to hospitals.

Searcy, which was not struck by the twister, was serving as headquarters for rescue and relief operations in White county. Veterans, civic and fraternal organizations, Boy and Girl Scouts and other groups were mobilized to help in the disaster.

Rescue Operations.

Rescue and relief crews and teams of emergency repair crews were being organized to replace the weary men who had worked through the long night, rescuing those who could be rescued, clearing debris and getting essential utility services back into operation. It promised to be a massive job.

At Judsonia, a town of about 1100 persons eight miles northeast of here, the only unscathed building is the Methodist Church, where an emergency first aid station was established.

At least 38 persons there were known to be dead, and many of the residents of the town were injured by the twister. Because of the chaos left behind, it was impossible to obtain even a fair approximation of the casualty totals.

Houses were lifted from their foundations by the tornado, and splintered into matchwood when the swirling winds dropped them. Stone and brick buildings were riddled with holes made by flying debris. One eyewitness reported that not a house was left

3 SOUTHERN STATES GET WARNING ON MORE TORNADOES

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP) —The Weather Bureau said today tornadoes may hit new areas in Kentucky, Tennessee and Alabama this afternoon, reaching western parts of Virginia and West Virginia tonight.

It said in a special forecast:

"Thunderstorms are occurring over a widespread portion of southeastern United States this morning. There is a possibility of tornadoes occurring this afternoon in central Kentucky, central Tennessee and extreme northern Alabama, moving across eastern Kentucky and eastern Tennessee to reach western Virginia and western West Virginia during the night."

17 TO 24 SERGEANTS HELD IN DRIVE ON REDS IN BRAZIL

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 22 (AP)—From 17 to 24 army sergeants were reported under arrest last night in a drive to purge the Brazilian army of Communists.

Gen. Zenobio da Costa, who is heading the anti-Red campaign, confirmed that members of the armed forces have been rounded up, some of them in the federal district. He would not say whether high ranking officers were included.

Squirrel Bites James Roosevelt; 'Tough for Democrats---All Over'

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., March 22 (AP) — James Roosevelt has been bitten by a squirrel.

Roosevelt, eldest son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, said yesterday the squirrel leaped on him and bit him in a very sensitive spot high on the back of the right thigh.

The wound was cauterized by a doctor at Beverly Hills Emergency Hospital. Humane officers captured the squirrel and reported it would be tested for rabies.

Roosevelt laughed: "It seems things are getting tougher for Democrats—all over."

Rivals Offer One-Cent Breakfasts In Price War; Many Won't Buy

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 22 (AP)—Two rival drug stores on opposite sides of a downtown street got into a price war that ran breakfast prices down to 1 cent yesterday.

Both the Walgreen and Ford Hopkins stores were offering an egg, two strips of bacon, toast, jelly and coffee for a penny. The regular price in each store was 50 cents.

The war started when Ford Hopkins posted a sign offering breakfast for 19 cents and Walgreen offered its breakfast for 17 cents. There were quick drops to 9 cents, then 3, and finally a penny.

Business was terrific, but some customers suspiciously avoided the breakfasts and ordered only coffee. Noon brought an automatic end to breakfast and the price war.

Today the price was 29 cents, a compromise agreed on by the managers of the stores last night.

RED CHINA TROOPS HAVE NOT GONE INTO INDOCHINA, PENTAGON SAYS

But Congress Fears Communists Are Planning 'Another Korea' There After Testimony by Lovett, Acheson.

C. YATES McDANIEL

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP) — Official disclosure that Chinese Communist forces are in French Indochina raised congressional questions today whether the Chinese are preparing for "another Korea."

But top Pentagon sources and French officials in Paris and Saigon quickly denied that Red fighting forces have crossed the Indochina border. Pentagon sources say some arms supply officers and truck drivers probably have, however.

A report from Saigon, Indochina, said reliable sources estimate 6000 to 10,000 military advisers and technicians from Red China are making a "slow invasion" of Indochina.

Lovett, Acheson Testify.

The impression both here and abroad that fighting forces had crossed into Indochina stemmed from testimony by Defense Secretary Robert A. Lovett before the House Foreign Affairs Committee yesterday, and from a statement by Secretary of State Dean Acheson before the same group Thursday.

Lovett, appearing to testify in favor of President Truman's $7,900,000,000 foreign aid bill, said "some" Chinese forces had been in Indochina "for some time."

In answer to a question by Representative Mansfield (Dem.), Montana, if that meant "we are faced with the possibility of a buildup as the Chinese did in Korea," Lovett said that is "always possible."

Acheson the day before said "I believe some Chinese are involved in the fighting in French Indochina." His was the first hint that Chinese Reds may have joined hostilities against the French in this gateway to rich southeast Asia.

Repercussions were immediate, because it could mean that the border had been crossed by the advance guard of a Communist army 200,000 strong known to be deployed near the Chinese side of the boundary.

First denials came from the ministry of the Associated States in Saigon. It said: "We have received no information allowing us to suppose that Chinese troops have crossed the border." A similar statement came from Paris.

The prompt and emphatic denials were in line with longstanding French efforts to avoid giving the Chinees any excuse to turn southeast Asia into a second Korea.

But Congressmen were worried, recalling that the Chinese sifted across the Yalu river border into North Korea during the Allied push in October 1950 then regrouped and forced the United Nations backward 100 miles.

"The same thing is possible in Indochina," Mansfield told a reporter. "This could be very important, both to the Far East and the defense program in Europe."

Representative Fulton (Rep.), Pennsylvania, said he is interested in pursuing the question saying:

"If the Chinese are there as organized units, it could mean two wars in Asia. In that case, we would be called upon to decide how much assistance to give the French. Secretary Lovett has said Indochina is of great strategic importance, which is the same thing President Roosevelt said when the Japanese went there."

Plan to Increase Aid.

Lovett has testified that the Administration plans to increase aid to French Indochina, as part of a requested $61,000,000 appropriation for all southeast Asia.

All sources acknowledge that the Reds have stepped up supplies into Indochina as railroads and highways were improved. The French retaliated by increased air attacks, launched from United States-furnished planes.

William E. Draper, mutual security administrator for Europe, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee yesterday that he had found far greater strength and stability in Western Europe now than three years ago.

Draper testified at a closed meeting. Afterward Chairman Connally (Dem.), Texas, said he had instructed Draper "to put the heat on those countries (in Europe) and to make them do their part. They should not expect us to do it all."

LATTIMORE LIED, SENATORS SAY IN ENDING HEARING

Unanimous Statement of Subcommittee Also Accuses Him of Intentional Contempt.

WASHINGTON, March 22 (UP) —Investigating Senators accuse Owen Lattimore of telling "untruths" under oath and of contemptuous conduct. He charges they made a "savage" and unfair attack on him.

Lattimore, Far Eastern affairs specialist and one-time occasional consultant to the State Department, was bitterly and unanimously denounced by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee late yesterday.

The barrage of criticism came as the group concluded weeks of stormy sessions at which Lattimore, a professor at Johns Hopkins university, underwent intensive questioning and swore he never has been a Communist or a red sympathizer—as charged by other witnesses.

On behalf of the seven-man subcommittee, chairman McCarran (Dem.), Nevada, read a scathing 2300-word statement accusing Lattimore of having been "flagrantly defiant," "outspokenly discourteous" and "persistent in his efforts to confuse and obscure the facts."

Then McCarran said: "That he has uttered untruths stands clear on the record."

Lattimore sat silent as McCarran read the long statement, then heard the chairman's gavel rap an end to the hearings. Just before McCarran started to read, he asked the witness whether he had anything more to say. Lattimore said no.

Lattimore put out a statement later saying: "The conduct of these hearings, and Senator McCarran's summing up, justify the rueful prediction I made in my opening statement that I could not expect a fair hearing."

PORTS OF ENTRY ISSUE CLEARED UP IN KOREAN TALKS

Red Maps Generally Acceptable, but Proposals on Prisoners Still Divide Negotiators.

MUNSAN, Korea, March 22 (AP)—Truce negotiators virtually wrapped up an agreement on ports of entry today as the Communists turned over detailed maps of five North Korean cities through which they would funnel troops and supplies during an armistice.

An Allied staff officer said the maps appeared to meet United Nations specifications and "looked in general to be following out pattern."

The maps, showing exact areas in which neutral inspection teams would operate during a truce, were flown to U.N. truce headquarters here for closer study.

A second group of U.N. staff officers told the Communists their "new approach" to the prisoner exchange problem needed "a considerable amount of adjustment."

The Reds again made it clear they have no intention of abandoning the principle of forced repatriation of all war prisoners, a principle the Allies have firmly rejected.

The U.N. comman submitted maps of its five ports of entry Friday, but the Communists asked for another 24 hours to pinpoint dock areas, airports and other facilities in their ports to be checked by neutral inspectors.

U.N. staff officers made slight modifications in their maps overnight to conform to Communist requests.

The ports of entry were named Tuesday. Communist troops and supplies would move into North Korea through Sinuiju and Manpojin on the Yalu river border with Manchuria, Chongjin and Hungnam on the east coast and Sinanju, a rail junction in the northwest.

The U.N. ports in South Korea would be Pusan and Kangnung on the east coast, Kunsan and Inchon on the west coast and Taegun, an air base city in southeast Korea.

CEYLON'S PREMIER FALLS OFF HORSE, DIES OF INJURIES

COLOMBO, March 22 (UP)—Ceylon's Prime Minister Don Stephen Senanayake died today of injuries suffered in a fall from a horse. Emergency treatment dictated by Sir Hugh Cairns, British brain specialist, by radio from his home in Oxford, England, 6500 miles away, failed to save the 67-year-old Prime Minister's life.

He died in a private hospital here without recovering consciousness. It was believed he suffered a brain concussion in the fall yesterday. A Pakistan brain specialist was en route by air from Karachi when death came.

Senanayake was Ceylon's first Prime Minister. He became head of the Government when Ceylon achieved independence within the British Commonwealth in 1947. He was a former rubber and coconut planter.

MID-FEBRUARY FOOD PRICES HERE 0.6 PCT. BELOW 1951

The retail food price index for St. Louis the middle of last month was 0.6 per cent below the same period in 1951, the United States Department of Labor said yesterday.

In mid-February, the price index stood at 238.6, with the 1935-39 period used as a base of 100. An increase of 13.5 per cent has been recorded since June 1950, prior to the Korean war.

From mid-January, the index fell off 2.3 per cent, chiefly because of a drop in prices for eggs, fats and oils, certain fruits and vegetables and meats, poultry and fish.

SABRE JETS SHOOT DOWN 9 MIGS IN 5 DAYS IN KOREA

Three Others Listed as Probably Destroyed, 24 Damaged — Ground Action Light.

TOKYO, March 22 (UP)—American Sabre jets in five days this week shot down nine Communist MIG-15s without loss to themselves, Far East Air Forces announced today. Three other MIGs were listed as probably destroyed and 24 damaged.

However, the MIGs pounced on a flight of F-51 propeller-driven Mustangs and destroyed one over North Korea. One of the slow Mustangs damaged a MIG in the same action.

Three other Allied airplanes also were lost during the five days—two F-84 Thunderjets to ground fire and an F-86 Sabre jet to an unknown cause.

Far East Air Forces flew 5710 sorties during the week.

Sabre jets reported their first claim against the Type-15 Communist jet, a version of the MIG-15. One of them was damaged. The air force reported that the new jet is slower than the MIG with a longer and higher wing and fuselage.

The MIG scoreboard as of Friday read 259 destroyed, 58 probably destroyed and 439 damaged, the air force said. All types of Communist planes hit by Allied fire included 394 destroyed, 108 probably destroyed and 495 damaged.

Multiple cloud layers and snow flurries brought action nearly to a standstill today, both on the ground and in the air.

Fifth Air Force pilots could find only two holes in the clouds over North Korea through which to attack Communist targets.

Enemy ground forces made two probes shortly before midnight west of Chorwon on the central front. One was beaten off easily and in the second case a United Nations unit pulled back on orders from an advanced post.

Light engagements with enemy units up to about 20 men in size were reported west of the Mundugni valley in the east. On the western front small enemy groups stabbed at three U.N. positions west of Korangpo without success.

AIR FORCE WEATHER PARTY LANDS ON ICE ISLAND NEAR POLE

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, March 22 (UP)—A civilian scientist and two United States Air Force officers were camped on a floating ice island 60 miles from the North Pole today following the first successful aircraft landing on the huge Arctic ocean ice mass.

Maj. Gen. William D. Old, commanding general of the Alaskan Air Command, acted as co-pilot on the ski-wheel equipped C-47 cargo plane that landed on the ice island after an 18-hour flight from a secret Greenland air base.

The general said the Air Force hopes to make a "semi-permanent" weather station on the island, which is about seven miles in diameter. Plans call for supplying the camp by air and increasing the present crew to about 10 or 12 scientists and communications experts.

Old denied any inter-service rivalry prompted the Air Force move at this time. Members of the Navy's "Operation Ski Jump II" at Point Barrow plan to make a landing on one of the ice islands before April 15.

SCHOOL HEAD CENSURED, THEN GRANTED PAY RISE

The Belleville Township Board of Education considered a move at a meeting yesterday to fire its high school superintendent, then did an abrupt about-face and gave him a $250-a-year pay increase and a new contract.

Russell L. Thorne, chairman of the teachers' committee, presented a motion to dismiss Hal O. Hall, superintendent of the township high school and junior college for seven years, for "administrative deficiencies. "Then Hall's attorney, P. K. Johnson Jr., rose and threatened to invoke the state's permanent teacher tenure law, which requires that an open hearing be held on specific charges.

The board went into a caucus for an hour, then returned to the board room. Thorne withdrew his motion and offered in its stead a motion to censure Hall for alleged laxities. It passed, as did a motion offering Hall a new one-year contract along with the pay rise, bringing his salary to $8000.

CHOKES TO DEATH WHEN CLASP ON HIS FALSE TEETH BREAKS

Benjamin Haberthier, 7804 Maryland avenue, Clayton, died yesterday shortly after choking on a clasp which broke off of his false teeth and became lodged in his throat.

Haberthier, a milk grader at the St. Louis Dairy Co., 2001 Chestnut street, was eating in the company lunch room when he stood up, started gasping and pointing at his throat.

Fellow employes removed his partial plate and summoned police. He was pronounced dead at City Hospital, where it was found that the clasp had broken. He was 62 years old.

Flashes of Life

By the Associated Press.

No Time Off for Cupid.

PHILADELPHIA — City workers will have to get married on their own time.

Deputy managing director Bernard J. Kelly issued the order, stating there is "no authority in law which would warrant the granting of leaves with pay for such purposes."

Veteran city hall observers said that as long as they couuld remember, city employes got two extra days' vacation with pay to get married.

Draft in Reverse.

BLACKSTONE, Va.—This town has "drafted" two army men for temporary duty.

When Blackstone's only two doctors became ill this week, officials called on nearby Camp Pickett for aid.

Col. A. H. Robinson, post hospital commander, assigned Lt. Col. Vincent J. Anato and Lt. George Geyer to temporary duty as Blackstone's physicians.

Patient Flies In.

PHILADELPHIA — Woman's Medical College Hospital witnessed a new means of arrival for an expectant mother. She flew in the window.

A pigeon alighted in the inside sill, laid an egg and started building a nest of twigs.

Maternity registrar Annie Wells ordered a screen placed by the window to give the unregistered patient privacy and entered the "child" in the register as "special delivery."

SHAKE-UP ORDERED ON AIR BASE JOB IN NORTH AFRICA

Two Army Engineers Relieved in Wake of Charges of Fraud, Waste on Project.

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP) —Congressional charges of fraud, waste and inefficiency in building air bases in North Africa brought a drastic shakeup today of Army engineers who handled the multi-million-dollar job.

Secretary of the Army Frank Pace Jr. started the action late yesterday. He said he had directed Lt. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, chief of Army engineers, to relieve the two engineer officers now in charge in Africa, Col. George Derby and Lt. Col. Leonard Haseman.

He said Brig. Gen. Horvell E. Walsh will "command a new engineer division in the Mediterranean area, and the Moroccan air bases will come under his supervision."

Warning to Contractors.

Pace also notified private contractors working on the huge overseas project that he will suspend or terminate their cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts unless they take prompt remedial action.

Senator Johnson (Dem.), Texas, chairman of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, which has been investigating the African project, announced the Pentagon orders after receiving a letter from Pace outlining them.

"This should help the Army, the Air Force and especially the taxpayers," Johnson said. "It takes steps that should have been taken a long time ago.

"This is a warning to this group of builders and all other Government contractors in this nation. We don't intend to tolerate incompetence on contracts if it involves a sack of coffee or a million dollars."

Johnson said his committee will continue its public hearing on the bases.

Action to Recover Money.

Pace promised that the Army will take energetic action "to recover all money" shown by congressional hearings "to have been improperly spent."

He also announced a conference here next week for all the contractors involved in the African bases.

"They will be informed frankly of the unsatisfactory features of the work to date, and they will be put on notice that these features must be corrected unless action to terminate or suspend the contracts is to follow," the Secretary said.

The rush order on the top-secret air bases was decided upon shortly after North Korean Communists invaded South Korea in June 1950.

The Army engineers were put in charge of the project and they asked five large contracting firms to form a combine, Atlas Constructors, to rush completion of five bases. Speed was the prime consideration.

Original cost estimates of $250,000,000 or $300,000,000 now have soared to $455,000,000 as sites have been switched several times.

Independent Study Planned.

Pace said he will ask "an outstanding authority to examine the situation both in Morocco and in this country, independently of the Army, Air Force or Atlas, in order to be sure that proper remedial action has been taken, and to recommend whether further steps are needed."

Johnson recommended that the African contracts be suspended or terminated, but Pace said this would result in delays and additional costs.

Pace said he also had assigned six senior-rank engineer officers to Morocco and increased the Army audit and civilian staffs there.

Only yesterday Col. Harry Reed, veteran Army audit chief, testified he was holding up payment of some $13,000,000 to the contractors in part because of complaints that "many dead cats" are on the payrolls.

He explained "dead cats" are non-existent workers or those who do nothing.

May 17 Armed Forces Day.

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP) —President Truman has proclaimed Saturday, May 17, as Armed Forces day and directs Government officials to co-operate with civil authorities in commemorative ceremonies. The proclamation also invites state governors to arrange celebrations in honor of members of the armed forces. The Presiednt asks all citizens to display the flag on that day.

4 AIRMEN KILLED IN CRASH OF JET BOMBER IN TEXAS

PADUCAH, Tex., March 22 (AP)—Four airmen were killed yesterday when their four-engine jet bomber crashed and exploded in rough, desolate brush country about 22 miles northwest of here. The B-54 Tornado crashed shortly after it refueled at Reese Air Force Base at Lubbock, Tex.

Earlier yesterday 10 Navy airmen were killed when a four-engine patrol bomber dived into Corpus Christi bay less than a mile from the Naval Air Station. All aboard the plane were killed.

Among them was John L. Daffenberg, aviation machinist's mate of McLeansboro, Ill.

Omaha Group Plans Write-In Drive For Taft in Nebraska Campaign

Announcement by Faction Backing Ohio Senator and Kefauver's Arrival Give Campaign Shot in Arm.

OMAHA, Nebr., March 22 (AP) —The arrival of Democratic Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee for a campaign tour and announcement of a write-in drive for Republican Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio gave the Nebraska primary campaign a shot in the arm today.

An Omaha group has announced plans for a write-in campaign on behalf of Senator Taft, who seeks the Republican presidential nomination. A Lincoln group also planned an educational campaign without any particular candidate in mind, to teach voters how to cast a write-in ballot. There also has been talk of a write-in campaign for Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, but no plans for such a drive have been announced.

Prior to the wave of write-in talk, the Republican presidential preferential primary in Nebraska had appeared inconclusive with only two entries—Harold E. Stassen, and Mrs. Mary Kenny of Lincoln, a supporter of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Kefauver Against Kerr.

Senator Kefauver opposes Senator Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma for the Democratic presidential nomination in the April 1 primary.

In New Jersey Taft's formal request to remove his name from the April 15 primary was expected. Taft has sent a letter from Wisconsin where he is campaigning.

Secretary of State Lloyd B. Marsh said Taft's name could be withheld from the primary ballot under a 1949 state Superior court ruling. Marsh said the March 12 deadline for withdrawal from the poll was "merely advisory" and no one could force a person to run as a candidate in any election.

With Taft out of the primary, the Republican primary ballot would have only Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harold E. Stassen in the popularity poll. There will be spaces for write-ins.

Charged "Trickery."

Until Taft withdrew, charging Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll with "political trickery" in throwing the Republican state organization behind Eisenhower, the New Jersey primary had been considered a major test of strength between Taft and Eisenhower.

Taft said he was urged by state organization leaders not to file a slate of delegates in the primary. The Republicans have a slate of 38 delegates for the presidential convention in July.

Driscoll said he "never discussed Taft's candidacy with him, nor was anyone authorized at any time to make any commitments for Republican leadership in this state."

Senator H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey appealed to Taft to stay in the New Jersey primary and "help to unite the party."

Smith told reporters that he had been told that the Taft New Jersey headquarters had identified him as an emissary who had committed Driscoll to neutrality in the presidential primary.

He said he had discussed New Jersey politics with Taft in a two-hour conference Feb. 1 but made no commitments. He has remained neutral, he said, awaiting the outcome of the primary.

Meanwhile, in New York former Gov. Charles Edison of New Jersey, a Taft backer, urged Eisenhower to "condemn" the "ill-advised support" being given him by Driscoll.

Caution on Write-In Drive.

In Washington Eisenhower-for-President headquarters adopted a hands-off attitude toward a proposed organized campaign for write-in votes. A spokesman said the queston would be left up to state organizations, which were warned to proceed cautiously.

The general's managers referred to the varying complexities of state laws, the importance of publicity and other local factors which could affect the success of a write-in campaign.

In Wisconsin, the State Supreme Court's refusal yesterday to consider taking California Gov. Earl Warren's name off the April 1 ballot left Taft and Stassen backers arguing over who started it.

State Attorney General Vernon Thomson, a Taft delegate candidate, said Stassen supporters inspired the action. Loyal Eddy, a Stassen delegate-candidate, attributed Thomson's statement to "the crumbling of the Taft organization." At Berlin, Wis., Stassen called it "unfair" and designed to "confuse the people of the state for Senator Taft's benefit." Taft has denounced the move to take Warren's name off the ballot.

The name of Senator Kerr was tossed into the California Democratic presidential primary picture. John B. Elliott of Los Angeles said Kerr had authorized him to enter his name in the June 3 primary. Kerr's action came only three days after President Truman's name was withdrawn from the California primary. At that point Kefauver was the only avowed Democrat in the race.

BANK EXECUTIVE IDENTIFIES SUTTON, KLING AS ROBBERS

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—A jittery bank guard faltered at identifying Willie (The Actor) Sutton yesterday, but another eyewitness placed an accusing hand on the gangster's shoulder.

Theodore D. Sands, assistant manager of a Manufacturers Trust Co. branch in Queens, identified Sutton and Thomas Kling as the robbers who looted $64,000 from the branch in 1950.

Sands was to be on the witness stand again today for cross-examination at the trial of Sutton, 51 years old, and Kling, 45, for the 1950 holdup.

The identification of Sutton and Kling by Sands yesterday was made after bank guard James Weston failed completely to point out Kling and could not be sure of Sutton. Weston's performance surprised the prosecution.

After the court adjourned, a spokesman for the district attorney's office said Weston was "very apparently afraid."

100 REDS REPORTED KILLED IN ATTACK ON INDOCHINA POST

SAIGON, Indochina, March 22 (AP)—The French high command announced today 100 Communist-led Viet Minh soldiers were killed in an unsuccessful attack on the French military outpost at Nam Dong, about 500 miles northeast of Saigon on the Annam coast.

French losses were placed at 40 killed.

McKINNEY ASSERTS REMARK ON TRUMAN WAS MISCONSTRUED

MIAMI, Fla., March 22 (UP)—Democratic Party Chairman Frank E. McKinney said today that his repudiation by President Truman this week was just "a matter of reporters misinterpreting my remarks at a press conference in Key West Wednesday."

McKinney said that his statement the President would not run for re-election if there is a truce in Korea before convention time was "my personal opinion."

"I did not discuss that possibility with the President—that he would not run if a truce is signed," McKinney said. "There was no conflict between the President and me. We were in absolute accord. My conferences with him were very fruitful and I emphasize there were no differences between us."

Reporters quoted McKinney Wednesday as saying the President had set May 15 as a deadline for announcing his intentions. The President denied this and said there is no deadline.

HOUSE PASSES $6,254,215,628 BUDGET MEASURE

Year's Biggest Non-Military Bill Provides Funds for Independent Offices.

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP) —The biggest non-military budget bill of the year was passed yesterday by the House. It provided $6,254,215,628 to finance more than a score of so-called independent offices, including the Veterans' Administration, Tennessee Valley Authority, Atomic Energy Commission and the public housing program.

The House cut the bill $724,471,415 below the $6,978,687,043 requested by the President — a cut of more than 10 per cent. The budgets of all agencies involved were trimmed.

If history repeats itself, some of the cuts made by the House will be restored by the Senate, which last year added almost $70,000,000 to the amounts voted by the House for the same agencies.

Two More Measures.

House passage of the bill by voice vote late yesterday after three days of debate cleared the way for consideration next week of two more departmental budget measures.

They are bills appropriating $1,786,068,161 to the Labor Department and the Federal Security Agency, and $492,434,763 to the Interior Department.

House leaders want to have all regular 1953 budget bills out of the way by April 10, when a 10-day House Easter recess starts.

All but $16,922,720 of the reduction in the independent offices measure was made on recommendation of the Appropriations Committee. The House actually cut $22,718,550 below the committee's figures but gave the Veterans Administration $5,795,830 more than the committee had approved.

The extra VA money is to keep in operation one-man contact offices now operating in almost every state. Without the new fund, the VA claimed it would have to close all 334 of these offices. As it is, the VA claims it will have to close 200 offices because the Budget Bureau refused to give it enough money.

Hospital Program Hurt.

The VA said its cut would force it to abandon plans for 20 new hospitals and to close some already in operation.

The VA would receive $3,827,828,960 of the bill's total. This is $236,844,540 less than the President requested. TVA was allotted $171,270,000 of the $200,027,000 the President had budgeted. The AEC budget was shaved from $1,312,000 to $1,137,727,500. The National Science Foundation was given $3,500,000 of the $15,000,000 it wanted.

GEN. EISENHOWER WRITE-IN DRIVES OPEN FOR ILLINOIS APRIL 8 PRIMARY

Door-to-Door Campaign Planned in St. Clair County — Printed Ballots Lack Line for Entering New Name.

Insurgent Illinois Republican organizations, heartened by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's showing in Minnesota, have begun Eisenhower-for-President write-in campaigns which could become statewide by the April 8 primary, the Post-Dispatch was told today.

Eisenhower Republicans have been reluctant to engage in a show of strength in Illinois against Senator Robert A. Taft, who has support of the regular organization and whose name appears on the ballot. Illinois has been considered a Taft stronghold.

In St. Clair county, however, insurgents led by James W. McRoberts and John J. Hoban, East St. Louis attorneys, will conduct a door-to-door solicitation for Eisenhower write-in votes. Hoban is a candidate for the Republican nomination for state's attorney.

Other Illinois Campaigns.

Other campaigns have been announced in Rockford, the Champaign-Urbana area, Springfield and in some south Chicago wards, a spokesman for Eisenhower's state committee said. Pressure is developing to force the committee to sponsor the write-in campaign on a state-wide basis, the spokesman added.

So far the state organization has resisted this pressure because they feel odds are against any success comparable to that in Minnesota. They cite mechanical difficulties of writing in names on voting machines and space limitations on the Illinois ballot.

They further cite the fact that Old Guard Republicans have control of most of the Illinois election machinery. Election officials prejudiced against Eisenhower could place a strict interpretation on the law and throw out all misspelled and incomplete write-ins, they say. Some officials might even require addresses after the names of write-in candidates.

Would Be Blow to Taft.

A large write-in vote for Eisenhower in Illinois would be a serious blow to chances of Taft in the Republican nominating convention, Eisenhower supporters said. But they feel that a poor showing by the general in a campaign sponsored by the state organization would detract from the country-wide Eisenhower boom.

St. Clair county election officials indicated that they would apply a liberal interpretation of the law governing counting of votes. The law provides for counting write-in ballots where the intent of the voter can be determined.

County Judge C. C. Dreman of Belleville said that he planned to study the law carefully preparatory to giving pre-election instruction to election judges and clerks. He indicated that he would give special instructions in view of the probability of a large write-in.

No Write-in Line on Ballots.

Printed Illinois ballots have left no line for write-ins but it is possible to squeeze in the name of any candidate. The law requires that the voter must place a box containing an "X" to the left of the name he writes in.

Write-ins are made easier on voting machines, which are in use in East St. Louis, in 2340 of Chicago's 4334 precincts and in some Cook county precincts. These machines are similar to those used by Minnesota voters, who gave Eisenhower more than 100,000 write-in votes.

The voting machines have rectangular slots across the top to permit voters to write in names of candidates for any office. The space for a presidential write-in is considerably larger than the others, being almost two inches square and in the left corner.

The voter must assume an awkward position to use the write-in slot, standing with both arms raised over his head. With one hand he raises a sliding panel and with the other he writes the name. To prevent spoiling of the ballot the levers over names of other candidates for the same office lock in place as soon as the write-in panel is raised.

The write-in is registered on a roll of paper, which revolves from one spindle onto another as the votes are cast. This action is similar to that of a typewriter ribbon.

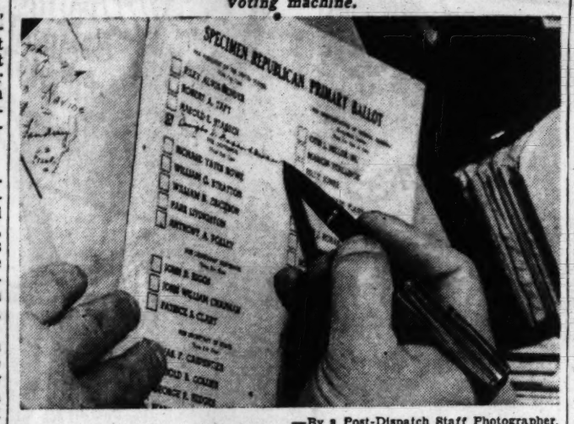

Three machines have been set up at the East St. Louis Board of Election Commissioners, 17 North Main street, for any voters who wish to learn their use. Election board employes will demonstrate them.

Names of presidential candidates appearing on the Republican ballots are Taft, Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota and Riley A. Bender, a Chicago hotel operator. Votes cast for any candidate are not binding on delegates to the nominating convention. Senator Estes Kefauver's name is the only one appearing on Democratic ballots.

Write-In Vote Demonstration

Election official demonstrates how voter must reach and stretch to write in Gen. Eisenhower's name on East St. Louis voting machine.

As shown, Gen. Eisenhower's name can be written in on the Republican primary ballot despite space limitations. Box containing "X" must be drawn at left of name.

BROTHERS FREED IN BURGLARY CASE ON 'FANTASTIC' ALIBI

An alibi that was called "incredible and fantastic" by the prosecution won acquittal in 30 minutes yesterday for Fred and Andrew Petty, Negro brothers, charged with burglary and larceny.

The jury of 11 men and one woman listened to evidence for two days in the court of Circuit Judge Ivan Lee Holt Jr. Policemen said they found 42 half-pints of whisky and eight slabs of pork ribs in Fred Petty's automobile when they arrested him and his brother near the Circle Market, 3200 Laclede avenue.

The Petty brothers, testified they were hired by a third Negro, who said he was employed at the market and "wanted to move some stuff." They said the man gave them a box, which they believed contained beer, but which turned out to be whisky and pork when police found it in their machine. The third man, John Grayer, arrested when he climbed through a hole in the store, is serving six months in the Workhouse on a plea of guilty of larceny.

WSB APPROVES PAY RISE FOR 220 AT WAGNER ELECTRIC

A 2½ per cent general wage increase with a minimum pay boost of 3½ cents an hour has been approved for 220 sales and service branch employes of Wagner Electric Co., it was announced today.

The wage adjustment petition submitted by the company was approved by the ninth regional Wage Stabilization Board in Kansas City, which also approved a 1.08 per cent cost-of-living pay increase, and a request to designate Armistice day as a paid holiday.

A wage schedule establishing rate ranges for various job classifications of 21 employes at a new plant of the Industrial Truck Service, Inc., was also approved by the board. The rate ranges from a minimum of $1.30 to $1.40 an hour for porters, sweepers and watchmen to $1.70 to $1.80 per hour for journey mechanics.

POLICE CARRY MAN TO SAFETY FROM SMOKE-FILLED BEDROOM

Paul Stevens, a truck driver, was carried to safety through a window by two policemen last night when smoke from a burning mattress filled his two-room shack in the 3700 block of South Main street.

Police were summoned after smoke was observed pouring from the windows. Patrolmen William Young and Ambrose Kolodziej, hearing Stevens shout, "I can't get out—I'm stuck," tried to enter the bedroom, but were forced back by the smoke.

They broke a rear window and pulled him into the yard. He was taken to City Hospital where he was said to be suffering from smoke inhalation and acute alcoholism.

POLICE SHOOT SUSPECT, INTERRUPT BURGLARY

2 Others Flee From Grocery Under Revolver Fire—Pair Arrested Later.

One man was shot and wounded seriously and two others fled under revolver fire when police interrupted an attempted burglary at the grocery of James Cubbage, 1558 Thurman avenue, last night.

The wounded man, arrested after he returned to his parked automobile near the store, was identified by police as Donald R. Allen, 24-year-old laborer, of the 5600 block of Wabada avenue. He is in City Hospital with a bullet wound in the right side of the chest. Two associates of Allen were arrested later for questioning.

Neighbors reported shortly before 10 p.m. that several men were breaking into the grocery. Two scout cars from Magnolia avenue district and a car occupied by two detectives, cruising in the neighborhood, were dispatched to the scene. Officers surrounded the area as three men fled from the rear of the store.

Detective Sgt. August Ernst, who fired at one man he chased through yards and alleys, suffered an injured knee when he stepped on a bottle and fell at the start of the chase. More than eight shots were fired by the police. There was no answering fire from the fleeing men. Police found Allen's automobile, and were waiting there when he appeared.

Nothing was taken from the store. A window had been forced open and a pinchbar was found on the windowsill. A punch and a sledge hammer were found in Allen's machine. Due to his condition, Allen was unable to make a statement.

GAMBLING INQUIRY BEGUN BY MADISON COUNTY GRAND JURY

A grand jury investigation of gambling in Madison county began yesterday at Edwardsville. Sheriff James T. Callahan and police chiefs of 16 incorporated communities were under subpena to testify.

Gambling, some the "sneak" variety and some of it open, was reported in the county. State's Attorney Austin Lewis said he subpenaed chiefs of police of all incorporated communities and the sheriff to appear before the grand jury to discuss "certain matters," including gambling.

Mrs. Elner MacAfee, county juvenile probation officer, also testified yesterday before the March term grand jury, which was impaneled last Monday.

GETS 199 YEARS IN PRISON FOR MURDER OF WAITRESS

James T. Purdy was sentenced yesterday to 199 years in the Illinois State Penitentiary after he pleaded guilty of criminally assaulting and murdering Miss Elizabeth Bunetich Jan. 18 in East St. Louis.

He was sentenced at Belleville by Circuit Judge R. W. Griffin, who said to Purdy, "It's almost impossible to believe that the human mind could become so depraved."

Purdy, 22 years old, Negro laborer, lived in the 900 block of North Second street, East St. Louis. He previously had signed a statement admitting that he bludgeoned and criminally attacked Miss Bunetich, 37, a waitress, as she was walking to her home. She lived at 1416 North Eighteenth street, East St. Louis.

PUBLIC HOUSING DEBATE HEATED AT WASHINGTON U.

Supporters of Low-Rent Quarters Rally at Institute After Attack by Builders.

Public low-rent housing was attacked bitterly and defended vigorously in a housing institute at Washington University, opened late yesterday and concluding today, in a move to arouse greater public interest and understanding of all phases of the housing problem.

The institute, under auspices of University College and attended by several hundred persons representative of many interests, was arranged in co-operation with the Citizens' Council on Housing and Community Planning, and backed by numerous other organizations.

Representatives of private builders, real estate operators and small property owners took advantage of the oportunity to denounce public housing. Supporters of public housing appeared to have been caught off guard, but rallied to its defense.

Charges By Opponents.

The opponents used various forms of attack, which have become familiar elsewhere through much use—charges of "Leninist economics," "economic tinkering," moral impropriety, "a treacherous blow at the institution of property"; assertions that private enterprise can provide housing for all classes, if permitted to operate freely; criticisms of the financing, design and planning of public housing, and a demand for referendums on housing sites.

The charges were denied and the fundamentals of public housing upheld by its supporters. Both sides had pamphlets available for distribution, giving their views, including notably a National Association of Home Builders booklet attacking "socialized housing," in a pattern of one-sided statement that has appeared in many other cities.

The public housing controversy was opened by Clinton R. Schattgen, president of the Home Builders' Association of Greater St. Louis, who was on the program to discuss privately-financed housing. He told of the accomplishments of his industry since the war, including about 70,000 homes and apartments in Greater St. Louis, of which he estimated 30,000 were erected in the last two years.

Home Ownership Plea.

Schattgen made a plea for home ownership, and asserted that the private building industry could handle all housing needs. His formula for this was as follows: Long-term loans at low interest for private builders comparable to those for public housing; rehabilitation of old housing for "those at the very bottom of the income ladder" through "civic work, legislation if necessary, and intelligent community planning"; clean up slums by enforcing existing city laws.

Some of the bitter complaints about public housing were made by Schattgen. The first reply came from Isadore E. Millstone, contractor, who has built much housing here and elsewhere for public authorities. Pointing out that public housing employs private enterprise for construction, Millstone said: "I am not convinced construction of individual housing is going to be the solution of the housing problem. I can't visualize St. Louis being completely taken over by the private house."

Millstone told of the bad slums he had seen replaced by modern public housing and said private enterprise would not clear slums because there was no profit in it, except for the community as a whole.

"They say public housing breeds Communism," said Millstone, with reference to the critics. "I say the slums breed Communism."

Darst Speaks.

Later, Mayor Joseph M. Darst, who had not been present previously, made an address, outlining the extent and costliness of St. Louis slums and the need for public housing to provide proper accommodations for the low-income group, which, he said, is "priced completely out of the private housing market."

Question periods brought out some of the attacks on public housing. Millstone defended the tall or "elevator" apartment being used for new projects here, as a means of maintaining ample open space where limited sites are available.

Defending construction costs of public housing here, as against those in New York, he said New York had a less rigorous building code and an idle surplus of construction workers.

Stephen F. Thomas, president of the Real Property Owners' League, argued that private enterprise has met the St. Louis housing need. He accused Mayor Darst of falsifying figures on slum taxes, after the Mayor had departed, but was challenged immediately by Kenyon Lewis of the Ethical Society. It was obvious that Thomas and Darst were referring to different sets of facts.

Sam Michelson, chairman of the Real Estate Board's housing committee, criticized the proposed site for additional public housing, south of Chouteau avenue in the vicinity of Twelfth boulevard. He made the proposal for a referendum on every housing site—a device frequently employed elsewhere to defeat public housing.

SHERIFF MAX HILL IS RULED LOSER IN 1950 ELECTION

Republican Judge Throws Out Ballots in 3 Democratic Precints of St. Clair County.

Sheriff Max L. Hill of East St. Louis, a Democrat, was declared loser of the 1950 election for sheriff of St. Clair county in a decision returned today by Circuit Judge Quinten Spivey at Belleville.

Ballots in three heavily Democratic precincts—the big Brooklyn precincts and two in Centreville Township—were thrown out by Judge Spivey, who said that he had found evidence of fraud and unlawful conduct by election officials there.

The judge, a Republican, ruled that Hill's Republican opponent, Ed Lehman of East St. Louis, was winner by 284 votes. The official canvass, made immediately after the election, had found Hill the winner by 306 votes.

Hundreds of voters at Brooklyn, a Negro village north of East St. Louis, were given illegal assistance by Mayor William Terry and other Democratic officials, Judge Spivey said. Brooklyn's vote was 684 for Hill and 213 for Lehman.

Judge Spivey disqualified results of the election in Centreville Township's second and fifth precincts on the ground that the clerks initialed ballots. Ballots should have been initialed by judges, he said.

In resisting Lehman's contest, attorneys for Hill had argued that similar election irregularities had occurred in precincts which returned large majorities for Lehman. The judge did not rule out any of these returns, however.

A recount of St. Clair county ballots, conducted in trial of the contest, resulted in a net gain of 69 votes for Hill, making his edge 375 votes until Judge Spivey threw out three precincts.

Sheriff Hill, a newcomer to politics, has aroused the opposition of many professional politicians of both parties since he took office in December 1950 because of his stand aaginst permitting wide-open gambling.

He is expected to remain in office pending outcome of an appeal. His attorneys, Otis Guymon and Frederick E. Merrills, former chairman of the St. Clair County Democratic Committee, have 30 days in which to file.

3 WOMEN IN SAFETY ZONE HIT BY SWERVING TRUCK

Three women were injured early today when they were struck by a light truck as it swerved to avoid hitting an automobile which had stopped suddenly at Broadway and Chambers street. The women were in a safety zone.

Those injured were: Mrs. Elenora Gross, 2823 Hadley street, who suffered serious head injuries; Mrs. Delilah Hall, 3306 North Twenty-first street, a fractured arm, and Mrs. Arlene Moreland, 4246A Athlone avenue, fractured left elbow. Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Moreland returned home after treatment at the hospital. Mrs. Gross was taken to City Hospital.

The driver of the truck was John Strasburger of 7004 Kingsbury avenue, University City.

RELAY BREAKDOWN PREVENTS DENNIS DAY SHOW TELECAST

The west to east transcontinental microwave relay broke down during the Dennis Day television broadcast from Hollywood last night, preventing transmission of the program by Post-Dispatch Television Station KSD-TV from 7 to 7:30 o'clock.

Motion pictures were broadcast from New York to fill in the time on KSD-TV and a score of other stations throughout the Midwest, East and South which had scheduled the Hollywood program.

National Broadcasting Co. engineers said the break was in the second microwave tower east of Denver. Only the studio audience at Hollywood saw the Dennis Day show, which was telecast by kinescope at a later hour on the West Coast.

FIRM CHARGED WITH VIOLATING PURE FOOD ACT FINED $750

The So Good Potato Chip Co., 2931A Gravois avenue, was fined $750 by United States District Judge Roy W. Harper yesterday on two charges of violating the Pure Food and Drug Act. Edward C. Causino, manager, entered similar pleas and was fined $200.

The Government charged the firm shipped bags of popcorn containing rodent hair fragments to an East St. Louis grocery Dec. 4, 1950, and to a Peoria, Ill., concern on the same date. Five other counts were dropped by the prosecution.

A $250 fine was assessed against the firm in September, 1949, on a charge of shipping Fritos containing insect fragments and rodent hairs to East St. Louis.

August A. Busch Jr. Marries Gertrude Buholzer in Arkansas

Ceremony Takes Place at Hot Springs—She Is Daughter of Restaurant Owner in Switzerland.

August A. Busch Jr., president of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., was to marry Miss Gertrude Buholzer, 25-year-old daughter of a Lucerne, Switzerland, restaurant proprietor, today at Hot Springs, Ark.

Busch, 53 years old, was divorced last Feb. 20 by his second wife, the former Elizabeth Overton, who won a property settlement valued at more than $1,000,000 and custody of their two minor children.

Today's ceremony will be performed by Associate Justice Sam Robinson of the Arkansas Supreme Court in Busch's cottage on the Majestic Hotel grounds. A religious ceremony probably will be held later the Post-Dispatch was told.

Attending the ceremony, set for 11 a.m., will be Busch's two daughters by his first marriage, Mrs. John Flanigan and Mrs. Robert Hermann; his son by the second marriage, August A. Busch III, and other relatives.

Eberhard Anheuser, Busch's cousin and board chairman of the brewing firm, will give the bride in marriage and Adalbert Von Gontard, another cousin and an officer of the Busch firm, will be best man. Mrs. Anheuser and Mrs. Von Gontard also will be present. Other guests will include Robert Baskowitz, a business friend, and Mrs. Baskowitz.

Miss Buholzer has been in Hot Springs since earlier this week, going there from the home of Busch's sister, Mrs. C. Drummond Jones of Sappington, where she has been a guest at times when in St. Louis.

The pair planned a wedding trip, probably to Florida, and were expected to return to St. Louis early in April.

Miss Buholzer has been in this country most of the time since December, 1949, staying usually either at Busch's home, Grant's Farm, on Gravois road in St. Louis county, or at Mrs. Jones's home. She has applied for American citizenship.

Busch's first wife, the former Marie Christy Church, died in 1930. He married Mrs. Elizabeth Overton Dozier in 1933, two weeks after her divorce from Lewis D. Dozier Jr.

Under terms of the divorce last month she received $450,000 in cash, $480,000 in property over a 10-year period and the Busch home at 5577 Lindell boulevard, valued at $100,000. She alleged general indignities in her divorce petition, which was a cross-bill to Busch's suit filed last August.

FIRE STATION DOG, GIVEN AWAY, DEFIES NEW RULE, RETURNS

"Spotty," a fox terrier pet given away yesterday by Engine Company No. 6, defied Fire Chief Walter Kammann's new anti-dog regulation yesterday by making its way several miles back to the fire station at 12 North Ninth street.

The dog was sorrowfully delivered to its new owner, a Piedmont (Mo.) farmer, at 4200 Pine boulevard about 1 p.m. Five hours later it turned up at the station in time for supper, footsore and minus its collar.

"Spotty" was one of about seven pets affected by Fire Chief Kammann's decision that dogs will be barred in fire stations after next Monday. He said the animals impair the department's efficiency. Just what happens in the case of a dog which refuses to stay given away remains to be seen.

"We don't know who else to give him to," said a somewhat jubilant station spokesman. The dog has been around the station four years, and obviously can't be kept down on the farm.

MAGISTRATE DOWD TO RECEIVE LAWYERS ASSOCIATION PLAQUE

Magistrate Robert G. Dowd will receive a plaque from the Lawyers Association of St. Louis Monday in recognition of his work while serving as chief magistrate in the latter half of 1951.

The citation points out that Dowd "dispatched the business of his court with prompt, courteous, painstaking and business-like procedures." It commended him for opening court promptly at 9:30 a.m. and for "forthright interest in the administration of justice."

Frequently in the past lawyers have complained of the manner in which magistrate courts have been handled, particularly in regard to assigning cases and opening court.

PROMOTIONS FOR TWO MEN ANNOUNCED BY POLICE BOARD

Two promotions were announced yesterday by the Board of Police Commissioners.

Cpl. Homer H. Montgomery, a member of the Police Department since 1938, was promoted ot sergeant, and Robert Freihaut, a patrolman since 1941, was promoted to corporal.

Montgomery, 41 years old, lives at 6627 Odell street, and Freihaut, 35, lives at 3400 Alberta street.

ANOTHER KNETZER LOAN REPORTED, THIS ONE $50,000

Robert L. Knetzer, bankrupt Edwardsville automobile dealer, obtained $50,000 from a St. Clair county (Ill.) business man. Circumstances of the loan were similar to those in which he borrowed $103,500 from Gerald Sammons, Hillsboro, IH., farm implement dealer, G. William Horsley, attorney for the trustee of Knetzer's bankrupt estate, said today.

Horsley, who did not name the business man, said Knetzer, as in the Sammons case, met the man during one of his trips from jail to raise $250,000 in assets which a federal judge said he was concealing, and influenced him to go to Wyoming, where Knetzer said he owned timber and oil lands.

The business man turned over $50,000 to Knetzer on plans that called for shipping Christmas trees from Wyoming to Illinois markets and for marketing other timber and selling oil leases, Horsley said. Knetzer showed the man leases and signed contracts, but when the man checked, he couldn't find the people Knetzer named as participants in the deals.

HANS HEINRICH DIECKHOFF DIES

ENZKIRCH, Germany, March 22 (AP)—Hans Heinrich Dieckhoff, Adolf Hitler's last Ambassador to the United States, died at his home here yesterday. He had been suffering from cancer.

Dieckhoff, 67 years old, was born at Strasbourg, now in France. He entered the German diplomatic service in 1919. Hitler named him Ambassador to Washington in May, 1937. During the war he was German Ambassador to Spain.

CALL FOR 56 MEDICAL MEN

CHICAGO, March 22 (AP)—Fifth Army headquarters announced today 56 Army medical service reserve officers from its area will be called to active duty in July. Ordered into active service for two years will be 40 physicians, 10 dentists and six veterinarians. The national quota is 290 officers.

The Fifth Army area includes Missouri and Illinois.

DR. CASBERG TO HEAD MEDICAL ADVISERS

Former St. Louis U. Dean Made Chairman of Armed Forces Committee.

Dr. Melvin A. Casberg, vice chairman of the Armed Forces Medical Policy Council and former dean of St. Louis University School of Medicine, has been named chairman of the council, Defense Secretary Robert A. Lovett announced yesterday.

Dr. Casberg succeeds Dr. W. Randolph Lovelace II who said his resignation was prompted by the necessity for him to return to his duties as head of the Lovelace Clinic and Foundation for medical education and research in Albuquerque, N.M.

The council was established in January, 1951, to advise the Secretary of Defense on medical and health matters. Members, other than the chairman and vice chairman, are the surgeons general of the Army, Navy and Air Force and two doctors and a dentist in private practice.

ONE KILLED, 2 HURT IN BLAST IN MISSOURI FIREWORKS PLANT

CLINTON, Mo., March 22 (AP)—An explosion in a fireworks factory killed one man and injured two others yesterday. The blast demolished a small powder house at the Zenith Fireworks Corp. Fire following the explosion was put out quickly.

John Geer, 60 years old, of Clinton, was killed instantly. Woodson McGinnis of Coal, Mo., was injured seriously and George Radabough, of Brownington, Mo., was hurt less seriously.

Herbert Brown, president of the concern, said the three men were working on fireworks rockets. The cause of the explosion has not been determined.

EX-CONVICT GETS 4 YEARS ON HEROIN SALE GUILTY PLEA

Eugene Hamilton, a former convict, was sentenced to serve four years in a federal penitentiary by United States District Judge George H. Moore yesterday on his plea of guilty to an indictment charging sale and possession of heroin.

The prisoner told Judge Moore he was a drug addict and had started using drugs when in the Missouri Penitentiary at Jefferson City, where he served 27 years of a life sentence imposed for murder. Judge Moore recom-

STATE DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN MARRIES SEDALIA WOMAN

HARRISON, Ark., March 22 (AP)—Frank W. Hayes, chairman of the Missouri State Democratic Committee, and Mrs. Lucille Hall Patten, both of Sedalia, were married here yesterday afternoon.

The ceremony was performed by chancery Judge J. Loyd Shouse in his chambers. The couple left Harrison immediately.

It was the third marriage for both. Hayes listed his age with the county clerk as "around 50." The bride listed hers as "about 30."

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Protesting the Gerrymanders

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The St. Louis Chapter of Americans for Democratic Action protests against the flagrant gerrymanders by the St. Louis County Council in its redistricting of the county for seats in the State House of Representatives and State Senate. We protest as strongly against the gerrymander by the St. Louis Board of Election Commissioners in its redistricting of the city for seats in the Senate.

These actions undermine the basis of the republican form of government that the United States Constitution guarantees the states—representation of the people in the governing bodies by delegates of the people's own choice.

These districts obviously were drawn not in order to give the electorate the fairest possible representation in the Legislature but rather from the narrowest partisan considerations.

Further, the redistrictings violate the constitutional requirements that such districts be compact, contiguous and as nearly equal in population as may be and will probably necessitate elections at large this year for Senators from the St. Louis area.

MARVIN E. BOISSEAU JR.
Secretary, St. Louis Chapter, Americans for Democratic Action.

Holding to Tradition

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The Missouri House is to be congratulated for killing the proposed Hilsman bill, barring minority parties from the ballot in this state. It is in the American tradition to debate and settle issues at the ballot box, and it is gratifying to note that the House has performed its solemn duty in seeing that this tradition has not been subverted or set aside.

Freedom From Criticism?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

What this country needs is another "freedom," s'help me! That is "freedom from criticism."

I do not mean only the criticism issuing from the mouths of political candidates, but mostly the petty, destructive criticism practiced by individuals on one another and things in general.

It seems to me that we are so in the throes of this habit, that we are unaware of the strangle-hold it has upon us. I know this to be true, for I have checked myself and others. One of the results of this check has been to discover that, in most cases, much of the criticism could be directed toward the one indulging in it.

SHUSH THE GRIPE.

Public-Spirited Public Service

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Considering the thousands who are transported daily, and despite weather conditions and tie-ups, I think Public Service Co. is doing a competent, public-spirited job of serving this community.

Some people expect to have a bus come by every two minutes with a seat for everybody. Anybody can gripe. But it takes a smart fellow to come up with a better solution.

Of course, we don't like to pay increased fares, but many people will squander many times that amount in the juke box or beauty parlor and think nothing of it.

DAILY RIDER.

Two Sides to the Issue

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

It is a disgrace that your newspaper has printed such a one-sided view on the Maplewood-Richmond Heights School District problems. There are two sides to every issue and I feel that the Post-Dispatch has neglected to get the true meaning of the whole issue.

The reasons for not renewing Mr. Adams' contract by the school board were not personal animosity but facts. The superintendent is the administrator of the school district. When that administrator fails to do his duty toward the children in seeing that they are given the proper education, it is time for him to go.

No big business keeps a man when he fails to do his job—and neither should we. The education of our children is a big business.

I am interested in the future of our country and our children are our future leaders. Let's make more of an issue of our children's education and guidance and not the perpetuation of one man's job, poorly done.

Prosperity, a Mirage?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

It seems to me that the appearance of prosperity we see today comes from such factors as these:

1. We have more double and triple-income families than we used to. The war brought many women into industry, and they stayed there after the emergency.
2. The population is growing older and more and more employes are getting increases due to length of service and upgrading, etc.
3. There is now very slight unemployment. Almost all employables are working.
4. "Extra-incomes," such as from rents, stocks, etc., are good today because of full employment and general prosperity.

Brewster's Devious Deal

It was a tricky deal which Maine's Republican Senator Owen Brewster confessed to the House subcommittee investigating Internal Revenue scandals. It reflects seriously on his concept of public morality as well as on his impartiality as chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee in 1950.

Summoned from the Senate floor to tell his story under oath, Brewster said that he had Henry (the Dutchman) Grunewald, the mysterious Washington wire-puller, pass $5000 each to Republican Senators Nixon of California and Young of North Dakota. These were loans to help them in their primary campaigns. Brewster said he borrowed the money, and that he used Grunewald as an intermediary because he knew him to be a man of discretion.

Brewster needed an intermediary because, as chairman of his party's campaign committee, he was not supposed to play favorites in party primaries. Perhaps it may be argued that this still left him personally free to be of secret help to primary candidates even in states other than his own. This might be argued even though the investigation of the Butler-Tydings campaign in Maryland has shown what may come of the use of outside funds in state campaigns.

• • •

But what cannot be explained so glibly is that Brewster, after the primaries, made $5000 grants out of the regular election campaign funds to Nixon and Young—grants which they used to repay the loans. Apparently both men had a clear understanding that, if nominated, they would receive such campaign grants and that they would use them to repay the primary "advances."

In short, by a nasty and devious device, Brewster actually used party funds to back Republicans against Republicans. The money was charged to the regular campaign against the Democratic candidates in California and North Dakota, but it was used in the party primaries in those two states.

Brewster was able to refer to Grunewald with a smile, but one wonders whether the defeated Republicans in California and North Dakota, not to mention the House subcommittee, will see much cause for humor. The story is no funnier for the fact that at the very time Grunewald was performing this service for the Maine Senator, he was being sought by a Senate committee in connection with a wiretapping investigation.

• • •

Brewster further admitted that, through Grunewald, he had sent another $1000 to an unsuccessful Republican candidate in the Connecticut primaries. And the man who prepared Grunewald's tax returns mentioned still another $1250.

Surely, these Brewster-Grunewald transactions need to be brought to light in more detail. Senator Nixon and Senator Young might also be questioned about their attitude toward this circumvention. Here is something of interest to the Republican party whose campaign funds were so strangely used, and also to all members of Congress who are interested in clean elections.

Is the Pentagon Clamming Up?

Members of Congress investigating waste in the defense program are justified in viewing with some misgivings the activities of the Pentagon in connection with inquiries sent to Army, Navy and Air Force inspectors.

The Hebert subcommittee asked the inspectors to report "leads" which might turn up cases of waste or duplication. It was promptly swamped with replies. Then the Department of Defense instructed the inspectors to furnish copies of their replies to their superior officers.

Will this move have the effect of drying up the information furnished to Congress? It might very well do so, whether that was the intention or not. The Hebert committee can only wait and find out. Defense officials say that they merely want to know about waste so they can take quick action to eliminate it. But this raises the question of why they did not themselves interview the inspectors long before the Hebert committee got around to it.

If the Defense Department is really anxious to eliminate wasteful expenditures, and is moving alertly to do so, that is good news for the taxpayer. All too often, however, the taxpayer gets the impression that action comes only after a congressional committee gets on the track of something.

In the case of the North African air bases, for example, Senator Lyndon B. Johnson has had to resort to the extreme measure of threatening to halt work on the air bases altogether unless the Pentagon moves into the situation revealed before his committee, which heard charges of "waste, inefficiency and downright graft" in that project.

Senator Johnson says he is "not fooling." Defense officials would be well advised to take him seriously. For he has behind him a determined public demand for efficiency and economy in defense expenditures. The public would like to see the military services taking the initiative in this matter instead of hastening to explain or correct each case brought out by Congress.

The Steel Dilemma

Last December Michael DiSalle, then price administrator, declared that the Government did not intend to "buy" a settlement of the steel dispute by granting increases in steel prices beyond those justified by the existing formulas.

The big question now is whether the Government, in view of the Wage Stabilization Board's recommendations, can make that determination stick.

Had WSB come up with more moderate wage proposals, the Government would have been in a strong position to insist that the steel industry absorb the cost with perhaps no more than a slight price increase allowable under the Capehart formula. But now it is the steel companies which are in a strong position to prove that the very substantial new wage costs proposed by WSB cannot be absorbed without a higher price increase.

United States Steel, for example, can probably show that the new wage costs, plus the higher costs to be expected in the things it buys, would reduce its profits before taxes below the pre-Korea level, and its profits after taxes to a point where they would just about cover the usual dividends with nothing left over for expansion or re-investment.

Other companies can probably show an even more severe strain. So the case for higher prices will be stronger than it would have been had WSB declined to permit a bulge in its wage stabilization formula.

Will another round of inflation be the result? The situation is complicated by the recent appearance of some deflationary influences. The easing of consumer demand, the stretch-out of the defense program, the bite of taxes and credit restrictions may offset the effect of a wage-price boost in steel. But there is no question that such a boost is inflationary in direction and may, in combination with other pressures, set the spiral going once again.

Charles E. Wilson, director of mobilization, has power to set aside recommendations of the stabilization agencies. Nobody will envy him the decision he must make as to whether he should risk a strike by such action, or risk inflation by acquiescing in a steel wage-price bulge.

Missouri Malady

There are a lot of reasons why local taxes are high in many parts of Missouri. In fact there are 7117 reasons. For that is the number of separate units of government in Missouri, as compiled by the United States Bureau of the Census and published in a report of the Missouri Public Expenditure Survey of unusual interest and value.

Quoting the Census Bureau, the study shows that Missouri is still one of the slowest states in reorganizing its outmoded school district organization. This table shows what is wrong:

NUMBER OF SCHOOL DISTRICTS

STATES	1951	1942	Per Cent Decrease
Missouri	4937	8613	42.7
Illinois	4580	12,138	62.2
Kansas	4436	8632	48.6
Texas	2492	6159	59.2
Oklahoma	2113	4518	53.2
New York	2095	6064	65.5
Arkansas	422	2644	84.0

Missouri has the largest number of school districts of any state in the union. There has been progress—a reduction in the decade from 8613 districts to 4937, but that is a decrease percentage of only 42.7. Illinois which had 4000 more than Missouri in 1942 has cut to 300 fewer than Missouri in 1951 for a decrease of 62 per cent. As the table shows, Arkansas cut from 2644 districts to 422—a decrease of 84 per cent!

Fewer than half the states have both county and township government. Missouri is one of them. This state has 114 counties in addition to the City of St. Louis which is also a county. Not all the counties have townships but the 23 which do run up a total of 329 townships.

The automobile and the hard road have completely outmoded the county. It is a hang-over from the horse-and-buggy days. The assessing and tax collection functions of the county seat, along with its custody of funds, could just as well be performed in fewer places. Nor is it necessary to have so many county seats for the administration of justice.

Remember the total—7117 units of government. This number should come down some every year until it approximates reason. But it will not come down without effort. We can be sure that the courthouse rings, the members of special drainage districts and special road districts and other units will oppose mergers and consolidations of functions as long as they can.

It is up to the taxpayers to do something about this Missouri malady of overlapping and duplicating governmental units.

For Mr. Truman's Attention

Senator Paul H. Douglas has sent to President Truman a list of seven men he regards as qualified for a vacant federal judgeship in Illinois. He proposes that the White House look over the list and select one for the seat for which the Senator had recommended the late Chicago Judge Benjamin P. Epstein.

The list includes such men as Tappan Gregory, former president of the American Bar Association, Dean Edward H. Levi of the University of Chicago Law School and Congressman Sidney Yates, one of the most progressive members of the House.

It ought to be possible for the President to set aside his differences with Senator Douglas sufficiently to choose a qualified man for at least one of the two vacant judgeships. The state of the Illinois federal docket requires additional help on the bench. Senator Douglas puts the matter up to the White House and it is hard to see how Mr. Truman can fail to respond.

No Time to Quit

Failure of the protracted effort to set in motion the legal machinery for creating the urgently-needed St. Louis Metropolitan Sewer District was indeed disappointing. But it is not necessarily fatal. The reasons behind that effort are as good now as last summer when the campaign began. So it is good to hear Mayor Darst say another try will be made.

Cause of the failure was the inadequacy of petitions circulated in St. Louis calling for appointment of a Board of Freeholders to plan the proposed integrated sewer district. At least 10,245 valid signatures were required in the city and, although 11,821 were obtained, only 7683 were acceptable to the Board of Election Commissioners. Unhappily the Attorney General has ruled that the old petitions cannot be recirculated, so proponents will have to begin all over.

In St. Louis county, where about 3500 signatures are needed, the petitions have not been checked. But there is a chance the county lists may, if they are sufficient in numbers, be held up pending recirculation of petitions in St. Louis. Uncertainty on this score tends to cloud the picture. In any event, this is not the time to abandon the drive. The metropolitan district is the only sound way to bring order to the area's sewer problem. The situation will not cure itself. A surplus of valid signatures can show the way.

Exercising a Basic Right

Representatives of an even dozen civic, labor, political and other groups in the St. Louis area have joined hands in a Citizens' Committee for More Votes, an important and thoroughly worthwhile enterprise to strengthen the democratic process here. We wish it every success.

The organization is patterned after the 1950 Good Citizenship Committee that won for St. Louis the American Heritage Foundation's national competition for the best campaign to get out the vote in that year's general election. That honor was richly deserved. But what was of real consequence was that voting in St. Louis that year attained near-record proportions, and balloting in St. Louis county was the largest ever recorded in a non-presidential election.

The coming elections are of even greater moment. The way to prepare for them is make sure every citizen is registered, and that is exactly what the Committee for More Votes will be doing from now on. More and greater public offices will be at stake this year, and the world will be watching how many of us exercise the right to the free ballot. The citizens' committee has its work cut out for it.

Another Warning from the Mines

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Explosion killed six miners at Mount Pleasant, Pa., although state has one of best inspection systems, editorial says; repeated warnings by federal inspectors unheeded; urges passage of Neely and Price bills delegating authority to enforce federal recommendations.

From The Washington Post

Congress was given another costly prod last month on the need for an effective federal mine safety law.

This time it took the form of an explosion in a mine at Mount Pleasant, Pa., involving six killed and four injured coal miners. There were 68 workers in the mine at the time of the explosion.

It is probable that all of them would have suffered death or injury had it not been that the mine was wet; this kept down the coal dust and thus avoided a series of explosions such as ripped through the Orient No. 2 mine at West Frankfort, Ill., in December, taking 120 lives, and through the Centralia mine in 1947.

As in the Orient disaster, the explosion at Mount Pleasant had been preceded by explicit warnings from federal inspectors. On three previous occasions they had classified the mine as gassy, warning the management on poor ventilation, use of improper equipment and other violations of the federal mine safety code. But the federal inspectors have no means to compel observance of their warnings; the Federal Bureau of Mines has no enforcement powers.

It could do no more than urge precautions. And because it would have entailed expense to apply these precautions, they were neglected. In self-justification, the mine owner could point to a classification of the mine as non-gassy by state inspectors—generally less "fussy" and exacting than federal officials.

Pennsylvania has one of the best mine inspection systems and a good mine safety record—at least in recent years. But state mine bureaus are unlikely to have the independence of the Federal Bureau of Mines; they are more susceptible to pressure by mine owners precisely because the mine owners have more direct and immediate influence in state governments than in the Federal Government. Moreover, there is a serious lack of uniformity among state mine safety codes.

The tragedies that have sprung from inadequate state mine safety regulations and lax state enforcement can be corrected only by a firm federal code with teeth in it. The Neely bill before the Senate, and its counterpart, the Price bill, on which the House Education and Labor Committee completed hearings a fortnight ago, afford a clear, effective, workable remedy.

Congress, in the exercise of its indubitable authority to regulate interstate commerce ought to adopt this remedy before any more grim warnings underscore the need for it.

Case of the Federal Worker

From The Federal Employe, Washington

With each passing week in this year of 1952, the morale of federal employes will be put to an increasingly severe test.

On the one hand there are the disclosures which reveal that some employes have betrayed their trust. On the other hand there are the scattergun attacks which smear and malign all federal employes indiscriminately.

It is clear that the spoils system must go.

It is not enough to point to the large number of positions now under civil service, the apparently small number still subject to outright political appointment.

A genuine career service is not built on laws and regulations alone. A primary requisite of a genuine career service is a strong desire on the part of employes to render public service. They must earnestly want to do so; they must feel that the work is spiritually rewarding; that there is recompense in the satisfaction of a patriotic duty well done. They must not regard the public service as a transient stopping place on the way to somewhere else. . . .

But many Americans do enter imbued with an ardent and high-minded concept of the public service. Too often, however, they lose it. Or, rather, they have it knocked out of them.

Too often their supervisors and administrators are either cynical or inept, or both. Too often established standards are compromised and proven procedures, developed in the public interest, are pointedly short-circuited or ignored. . . .

At the same time, these employes find themselves subjected to a constant torrent of vilification from the outside. Day after day they hear and read the words "bureaucrat," "tax-eater," and "gravy train"—employes who are not bureaucrats, not tax-eaters, and whose "gravy train" consists of a post of responsibility which pays much less than a comparable position in private business and industry.

Federal employes not only resent such conditions, such a climate of opinion. They act by resigning in droves.

It is essential to uncover wrongdoing. But that is only part of the task, perhaps the smaller part. What remains to be done is to create a federal service that will be worthy of America, and which America, in turn, will point to with understanding and with pride.

Reflection on the Tax Bureau

From the Illinois State Register (Springfield)

"Guilty" is the verdict of the jury of eleven men and one woman in the United States District Court in St. Louis in the case of former Internal Revenue Collector James P. Finnegan—guilty on two counts of accepting fees from corporations in violation of federal revenue laws and regulations.

News columns give details today of the jury's findings to which public sentiment will react in approval of the statement of District Judge Rubey M. Hulen that the verdict is "sensible and intelligent."

It is a credit to the courts and the jury system that such a bitterly contested case could be tried and a verdict rendered without the slightest taint of influence to hinder the course of justice.

It is a sad commentary that a government official charged with sacred responsibilities should have yielded to temptation to profit from his office in violation of his oath, his conscience and the law.

Finnegan's guilt far transcends the immediate law-violations for which the jury of twelve persons have returned a praiseworthy verdict. He is guilty of casting a reflection upon the tax-collection system of which he was an integral and highly responsible part. He has injured others who were innocent while invoking the law in condemnation of his own betrayal of a sacred trust.

The sentence is not to be imposed by Judge Hulen until March 24. It is with a sense of satisfaction that the public expect to find in the sentence imposed the same high standard of justice maintained by judge and jury throughout the trial.

Story of an Idealist

AFTER ALL: THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF NORMAN ANGELL. (Farrar, Straus & Young, 370 pgs., $4.50.)

If the world ever achieves lasting peace, it can look back on Sir Norman Angell as one of its saviors.

He was born in England 78 years ago, the son of a justice of the peace. After a youth disturbed by the inequalities he saw about him, he emigrated to the United States, became a cowboy, an unsuccessful rancher and a San Francisco journalist. Subsequently, Lord Northcliff put the young man at the head of the Paris edition of England's largest newspaper, the Daily Mail, and for the next 10 years Angell wrote for Northcliff's great newspapers.

It was in San Francisco that he realized that the illogically violent hatred of England was based for the most part on a desire to find a scapegoat for the economic miseries of the time. His first revelation was John Stuart Mill's essay, "On Liberty," discovered when he was a schoolboy in France. Before he was 20, he knew that neither changes in government nor new social and political institutions could prevent catastrophe. Man had to be taught that wars were futile; that both the conqueror and the conquered must lose, and together eventually destroy civilization.

Norman Angell

Angell's first two books failed, but they prepared the way for his "The Great Illusion," published four years before the First World War. What he attempted was to change the mind of man about war. Within three years the book had sold a million copies and was published in 20 languages. Though the inevitable war came, Angell and his ideas were the center of the peace movements that followed.

• • •

His contentions were proved when oppressive peace terms proved to be useless, and it became necessary to help rebuild the devastated countries. Though he had failed to end the belligerence of nations by books and innumerable articles in the popular press, he worked hard to establish terms of peace which would not contain the germs of another war. He failed again through the League of Nations to make the world safe for democracy, but he was given the Nobel Prize in 1933.

Finally Sir Norman turned to the British Labor party and became a Socialist in the hope that he might appeal to the worker, since he could not move England's upper or middle class. Angell soon found that his latest audience was filled with the economic conception that peace could only be won by destroying capitalism. Helplessly he watched the fatal attempt to appease the German Nazis and the beginning of another war.

• • •

Like all prophets, Angell's message was deliberately misunderstood. He had never said that war was impossible in modern society, but only that it would surely come if people did not stop to think what caused it. After writing 40 books, he has not actually failed, since he must see in his old age that the Western world is now uniting its strength in an attempt to make a future world war impossible. We now know that total war will be total destruction.

Norman Angell's "After All" is one of the finest and most appealing biographies of this decade. It is written vigorously, modestly and entertainingly. It is starred with many of the greatest men of our times. His reporting of events and descriptions of the men whom he worked with or fought against are illuminated by his journalistic skill. In another aspect, it is the adventure story of an unconquerable idealist and internationalist whose conceptions may yet win the battle for peace.

HUMPHREY PRAISES TRUMAN'S RECORD

Tells Lindenwood Students President's Foreign Policy Is 'Morally Right.'

The Democratic party should embrace its record on both foreign and domestic issues, proclaim it and "rely upon the American people to make an honest judgment" in the 1952 election, Senator Hubert H. Humphrey (Dem.), Minnesota, said yesterday at St. Charles.

Humphrey was the keynoter at a mock Democratic convention held by students of Lindenwood College. He was preceded on the speakers' stand by Representative Charles B. Brownson (Rep.), Indiana, who delivered the Republican keynote address.

"President Truman will go down in American history as having done more than any other leader in the western world to contain Communism and to release the energies of freedom and democracy to the peoples of the earth," Humphrey said.

"We can be proud of his foreign policy. It is morally right, politically sound, economically effective and the finest expression of American compassion and humanitarianism."

Refering to a "McCarthy philosophy" that a person is guilty until proved innocent, Humphrey said that anyone in office found guilty of any misdeed should be punished, but that they first should be proved guilty.

Party nominees for President were to be selected by both "conventions" today. More than 400 student delegates from 40 colleges and universities in 12 states are participating in the activities, which include caucuses and banner-bearing parades.

Representative Brownson, in his keynote address, said that the Republican party "must combat propaganda that it is the tool of vested interests" by opening its ranks and councils to all those who want to vote Republican this year.

The event is being sponsored by the campus League of Women Voters. Among institutions represented are Washington and St. Louis Universities, Harris Teachers College, Fontbonne College and Maryville College.

At similar conventions held four years ago, the Democrats nominated President Truman, with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower runner-up. The Republicans nominated the late Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, with Senator Robert A. Taft, second.

O. H. BURGER FUNERAL MONDAY

Funeral services for Oliver H. Burger, a professional musician here for 41 years, will be Monday at 1:30 p.m. at the Ziegenhein undertaking establishment, 6409 Gravois avenue, with burial in New St. Marcus Cemetery.

Mr. Burger, 56 years old, died yesterday of a heart ailment at his home at 3631 Robert avenue. A trumpet player, he had played with the Municipal Opera orchestra. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Estelle Burger; a son, Oliver L. Burger, and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Scott and Mrs. Raymond Brand.

CHARLES A. THOMAS, L. J. SVERDRUP GET MISSOURI U. HONORS

Charles A. Thomas, president of Monsanto Chemical Co., and Leif J. Sverdrup, head of a firm of consulting engineers here, received honor awards at the University of Missouri today.

The awards, for distinguished service in engineering, were given at an engineers' week convocation. Similar honors went to the National Bureau of Standards and to Dr. Wilfred Sykes of Chicago, chairman of Inland Steel Company's executive committee.

Thomas was cited for "several distinguished careers of leadership in research and development, in industrial statesmanship at the highest technical levels, and his services to our country in his leadership in atomic energy, rocket fuels and synthetic rubber."

The citation for Sverdrup, an Army Reserve major general, called attention to his "brilliant career as an engineer-soldier . . ."

THREE MISSOURI PRIESTS TO SET UP NEW PARISHES

Three Missouri parish priests have been appointed to establish new Catholic parishes, all of them probably in St. Louis county, it was announced yesterday by Archbishop Joseph E. Ritter. Boundaries of the new parishes have not been fixed.

Priests who will establish the new parishes are the Rev. Luke J. Naes, formerly of Immaculate Conception Church, Montgomery City; the Rev. James T. Murphy of Assumption parish, Herculaneum, and the Rev. James J. Huelster of Good Shepherd parish, Hillsboro.

Archbishop Ritter announced that the Rev. Victor T. Suren, formerly administrator of Immaculate Conception Church, Maplewood, has been released for full time work with the central bureau of the Central Verein, 3835 Westminster place. He has been succeeded in the Maplewood parish by the Rev. William B. McCarthy, formerly pastor of St. Mary's Church, Moselle, Mo.

'JAPAN WILL CHANGE AFTER OCCUPATION'

Americans, Christians May Be 'Less Welcome,' Veteran Missionary Reports.

"With the end of the American occupation in Japan there will be many changes, and Christianity will be presented with its greatest challenge in history," according to the Rev. Darley Downs of Tokyo who is in St. Louis on a speaking tour. He has been a Congregationalist missionary to Japan since 1919.

"While millions of plain people in Japan have had a great release from old pressures," he said in an interview here, "it is fantastic to suppose that all of the millions of former service men, government officials and teachers, once agents of the imperialistic, militaristic Japanese program, have been basically transformed."

The Rev. Mr. Downs feels that it would be difficult for anything like the old administration to reestablish itself in Japan even though not forcibly prevented by the West. He also believes there may be a lessening of the eager welcome of Americans and Christian teaching. But the opportunities for the Christian missionary are still incomparably greater than in the 10 years before the war, he said.

He was interned in the Philippines by the Japanese for two and a half years.

The Rev. Mr. Downs spoke at the Church of the Open Door, Webster Groves, Wednesday night, and at First Congregational Church, 6501 Wydown boulevard, Thursday night. He attended a luncheon of the Metropolitan Church Federation commissions yesterday.

His speaking engagements here next week include: Wednesday, 6:30 p.m., First Congregational Church, Webster Groves; Thursday, 1 p.m., luncheon meeting of the Women's Association of Pilgrim Congregational Church, and Friday, 12:30 p.m., Congregational Women's Fellowship meeting at First Congregational Church of St. Louis.

METHODIST CHURCHES GAIN 39,485 NEW MEMBERS IN U.S.

The Methodist Church in the United States added 39,485 new members from last Jan. 1 to March 15, it was announced today. This was the result of the United Evangelistic Campaign still in progress. It is expected the total of new members added will pass 50,000 before March 30.

Some 20 St. Louis Methodist pastors will assist in the Evangelistic campaign in the Missouri Conference, starting next Friday. They will serve mostly in the Hannibal district. A total of 230 churches in the Missouri Conference will take part in the 10-day campaign.

CENTRAL CHURCH BURNS MORTGAGE

Presbyterian Congregation, 108 Years Old, Wipes Out Building Debt.

Central Presbyterian Church, Clayton, burned the last mortgage on its building Thursday night. This represents the wiping out of a church debt which at one time amounted to $277,000. The mortgage burned Thursday night represented the last payment due on a $137,000 note.

The ceremony was held during the 108th annual meeting of the congregation. Movies were shown of the congregation moving in 1930 from its former church home at Delmar boulevard and Clara avenue to a Masonic temple, where services were held until the present church was completed at Hanley road and Davis drive.

The mortgage was burned by three sons of men who served on the church building committee more than 20 years ago. They were John Raeburn Green, son of the late John F. Green; Oscar W. Rexford, son of the late Lay P. Rexford, and Fielding Childress, son of the late L. Wade Childress.

The Rev. Dr. J. Layton Mauze Jr., pastor of the church, was moderator of the meeting.

CATHOLIC WAR AID FUNDS ARE SOUGHT

National Goal in Annual Campaign This Week $5,000,000; Collection Tomorrow.

The Catholic Church is asking for $5,000,000 in the United States to aid the victims of war. The annual appeal went out this week to all adult Catholics and will culminate tomorrow in a general envelope collection in all churches.

Children in Catholic schools are making their contributions to the relief fund throughout Lent.

The need for the Bishops' Fund for war victims was outlined in a letter from Archbishop Joseph E. Ritter read in all the parishes of the St. Louis archdiocese.

"South Korea is a shambles, its cities wrecked, its people without homes," he stated. "The fighting there has made it a land of wanderers without a chance to help themselves."

There are 7,000,000 refugees in Europe and Asia, Archbishop Ritter said.

"Finally," he added, "there remain more than 100,000 displaced persons, the unwanted 'hard core' of the D.P. problem, most of whom are either unacceptable elsewhere or unwilling to leave behind an unacceptable grandmother or crippled child."

The Very Rev. Msgr. Mark S. Ebner, pastor of St. George's Church, Gardenville, again is directing the appeal in this archdiocese. He pointed out that the International Refugee Organization went out of existence last Dec. 31, and private relief agencies "now are on their own."

UNION NOONDAY LENT SERVICE TO BEGIN MONDAY DOWNTOWN

The Rev. Dr. Allen G. Wehrli, professor of Old Testament at Eden Seminary, will be the preacher during the first week's daily noonday Lenten services of the Metropolitan Church Federation. The services will be held, Monday through Friday, at Christ Church Cathedral, 13th and Locust streets, and the half-hour service will start at 12:05 p.m.

Dr. Wehrli's daily subjects will be: Monday, "Must Sinners be Annihilated?"; Tuesday, "Shall Evil Be Overcome?"; Wednesday, "Will Justice be Ignored?"; Thursday, "Can Virtue be Forgiven?", and Friday, "Dare Goodness be Abandoned?"

Rabbi Isserman Made Rabbi For Life at Temple Israel

Marks 30th Anniversary of His Ordination — Leader in Interfaith Activities in St. Louis.

BY JOHN T. STEWART
Church Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Rabbi Ferdinand M. Isserman was voted rabbi for life of Temple Israel last night. His life tenure was voted by the congregation at a special meeting which followed a service marking the thirtieth anniversary of his ordination as a rabbi.

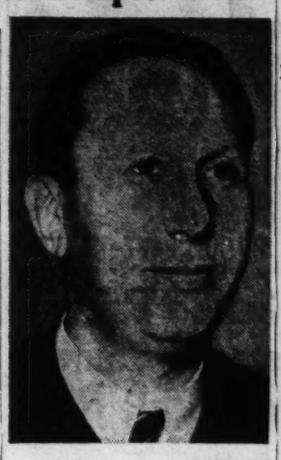

The congregation approved the following resolution which had been unanimously adopted by the temple board of trustees on Feb. 21: "In recognition and appreciation of the years of devoted and faithful services rendered as rabbi to Congregation Temple Israel, be it resolved that the board recommend to the congregation that Rabbi Isserman be accorded life tenure."

He has been rabbi of Temple Israel since Sept. 1, 1929, succeeding the late Rabbi Leon Harrison.

Rabbi Isserman was graduated from the University of Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1919, after interrupting his studies for voluntary service in the Army in World War I. He was ordained rabbi in 1922 after graduation from Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati. He served as rabbi of Holy Blossom Temple, Toronto, Canada, from 1925 to 1929.

In St. Louis he has been a leader in promoting better race relations and in interfaith activities. He was one of the founders in 1930 of the St. Louis branch of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. Rabbi Isserman founded and served as chairman of the Social Justice Commission of St. Louis; among its members was the late Justice Wiley Rutledge of the United States Supreme Court. At Temple Israel he founded the annual Institute of Judaism for Christian Clergy which held its fifteenth session in February.

Early in his rabbinate here, Temple Israel House was built at a cost of $250,000; this was in 1932 during the darkest years of the depression. The House adjoins the Temple on the west at Kingshighway and Washington boulevard.

UNIVERSITY CLUB GROUP CAST LOTS FOR CHURCHGOER

The story of how a group of University Club men threw dice to select their churchgoer was told here last week by the Rev. Dr. Horace F. Holton, who was pastor of First Congregational Church, St. Louis, from 1912 to 1918. Now retired and living in Boston, he spoke at the 100th anniversary banquet of the church, 6501 Wydown boulevard.

"When I came here 40 years ago," Dr. Holton said, "I was a young man and unmarried. I lived for a while at the University Club, which was just around the corner from my church. (First Church was then at Grand boulevard and Delmar avenue, now 3610 Grandel square).

"One Saturday night a group of men at the University Club decided to cast lots to choose a man to attend my church the next morning and hear the 'Rev.', as they called me. The lot fell on a lawyer who hadn't been to church in 30 years. It was decided that another man must accompany him to see that he conducted himself properly. The second lot fell on the general auditor of Anheuser-Busch.

"The group felt that going to church would be punishment enough, so a third throw of the dice was made to select the man who must contribute a dollar for the collection plate. This lot fell on another brewery executive.

"I watched these proceedings, so Sunday morning I was not surprised when from my pulpit I saw my two club friends enter and take a pew on the middle aisle. That night I joined the same group at the University Club for a discussion of religion that lasted till 2:30 a.m."

21 CHURCHES UNITE IN WORLD RELIEF

Protestants Set $6,000,000 Goal for One Great Hour of Sharing Program.

Twenty-one Protestant denominations will take part in the "One Great Hour of Sharing" program, their annual collection for world relief tomorrow, the National Council of Churches has announced. Many churches in the St. Louis area have agreed to participate.

The national goal is $6,000,000. Funds raised in the fourth annual observance will go for refugee and relief needs, food, clothing, medicine, and shelter, and for rehabilitation projects.

Korea, India, Palestine and Central Europe are the chief areas of need to be covered this year. The program is sponsored by the Church World Service Department of the National Council.

Methodist churches observed their annual Week of Dedication last week, culminating in the Day of Dedication last Sunday, when special offerings were taken for mission work at home and abroad.

Korean Homeless Described.

It is estimated that fully 4,000,000 people of Korea have been driven out of their homes and have lost everything through the present fighting, according to the Rev. Edward Adams, Presbyterian missionary in Pusan.

Lovellette Is Bills' Big Problem in Game Tonight

St. Louis U. AndKansas Fives Win

By Robert Morrison
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 22—Clyde Lovellette and the Kansas U. Jayhawkers threatened the St. Louis University Billikens' hopes in the N.C.A.A. regional basketball tournament here today.

The portly star of the Big Seven champions, a 6-foot-nine hunk of beef who is the greatest scorer of all college basketball, is the particular problem the Bills will try to solve in the Kansas City final tonight, starting about 9:45 o'clock.

But little Eddie Hickey, the veteran St. Louis coach who will renew an old acquaintance with the ancient Phog Allen, sounded a note of confidence after he had seen Kansas and its record breaking Lovellette in action.

The terror of Terre Haute, as Clyde is sometimes called, tied an N.C.A.A. tournament record last night when he scored 31 points in Kansas's 68-64 victory over T.C.U. That total was better than his average in a 23-2 season for Kansas so far.

He's a Fine Player.

"He is a huge player," said Hickey after his first in-person view of Kansas this season. "Kansas represents a big hurdle for the Bills, but we have been confronted with difficult problems in the past and have overcome them."

Whether Lovellette is the toughest big man Billiken teams ever have faced was a question that caused Hickey to hesitate. He recalled that a season ago Lovellette had been heavily outscored by Kentucky's Bill Spivey, whom the Bills had previously met.

Hickey, decided, however, that "with some hesitation" he would say Lovellette now is the toughest because the Kansas boy has learned to move around better.

"I was impressed too with Kansas's ability to hit outside and I think that Allen, who was able to use his bench freely against T.C.U., may have had a lighter load physically than we had in our opener."

The Billikens won their first-round game last night from New Mexico A.&M., 62 to 53, but a third-quarter letdown in which they fell into passing errors forced them to work hard for the victory all the way.

Boushka Plays Well.

There were encouraging signs in the Billiken performance, however, as big and rugged Dick Boushka, seeing his first varsity action after a season with the junior varsity, added height and ruggedness and scoring ability to the Billiken team.

And, after their National Invitation Tournament failure against Dayton, a game in which their shooting was very poor, the Bills came back with a good shooting mark of 44 per cent.

That was especially encouraging because they were relative strangers to the Kansas City Municipal Auditorium where a sell-out crowd of 10,000 watched the games. The different court and unaccustomed surroundings didn't hurt the Bills' shooting.

First and foremost for St. Louis in that department was Lou McKenna, who hit for nine field goals in 13 attempts and ran up a total of 22 points, high for his side, the game and, in fact, both games—except for Lovellette.

Cumulus Clyde, another name for the hulking K.U. pivot man, equalled the listed National tournament record for a single game, a mark set by George Glamack, North Carolina U., in 1941.

But the big boy wasn't as sharp as McKenna in shooting percentage on this evening. Clyde needed 31 tries to get his 13 field goals and Kansas, as a team, hit on only 38 per cent of its shots.

Another Tall Player.

B. H. Born, 6-foot-8 stand-in for Lovellette, represents an additional threat of height against the Bills, who are apt to suffer in that department at times. But most of the season Coach Allen has not used Born and Lovellette in the game at the same time. Born usually relieves Lovellette, and that's the way they played it against Texas Christian.

If that is done tonight the St. Louis players more likely will be able to hold their own.

Against New Mexico, St. Louis revealed a rookie front line that worked out very well. Big Jack Shockley played the post with Boushka and Jerry Koch at the forwards.

In fact, with that alignment, and then with the rebounding Tom Lillis playing the post part of the time, the Bills moved into command over the New Mexico Aggies in the second period. They outscored the Border Conference champions 19-13 in that quarter to take a 35-26 lead at the half.

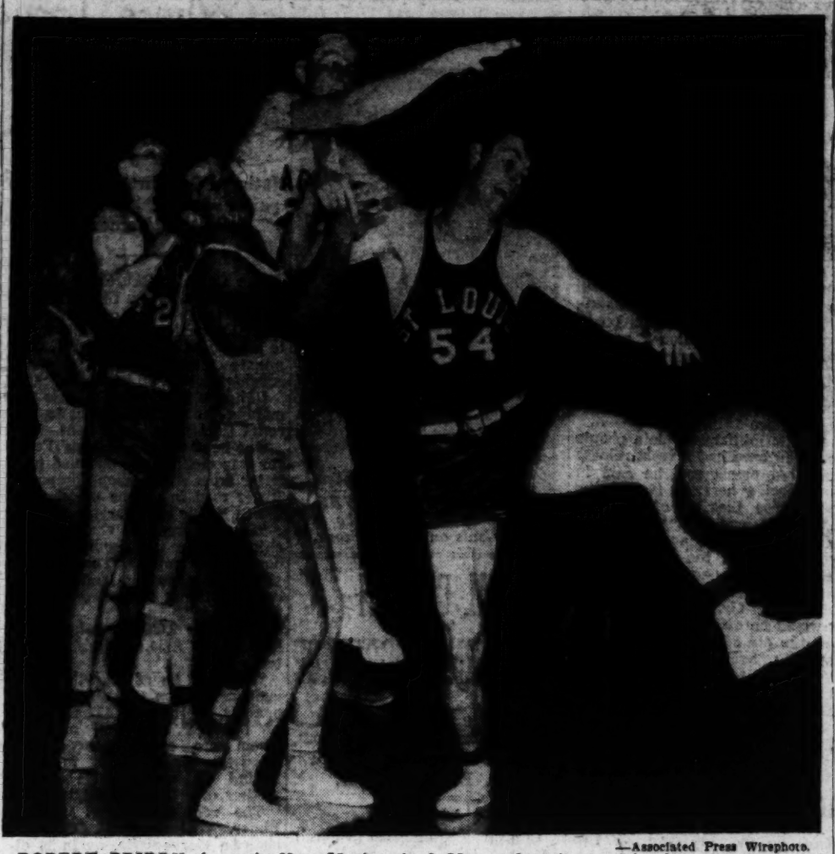

McKenna and Ray Steiner at the guards were the only veteran balance in this combination. New Mexico played a zone defense and Hickey explained he had to have scorers in the lineup.

But in the third period of the contest, when Billiken passing errors gave New Mexico its opportunity, the Border team rallied strongly and was only two points behind at the end of that period, 47-45, after having tied it at 43-43.

With Jim Tackett, a 21-point scorer, leading the way for New Mexico, the Bills were faced with a real threat. But early in the fourth, Steiner hit once, McKenna connected on the end of a fast break and again on a throw-in from out of bounds and this succession removed the immediate pressure.

(The game will be broadcast over WIL starting at 9:45 o'clock.)

The Billikens won the game, 62-53.

Card Kids Screened Prior To Cut in Roster; Rookies Hahn, Beard Blank Reds

By J. Roy Stockton
Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 22—Young members of the large Cardinal squad in training here were a little jumpy today, with one eye on the pigeon hole mail box at the motel and another on Secretary Leo Ward, whose duty it is to give railroad tickets to any athletes destined for other clubs in the Cardinal organization.

Last night Fred Saigh and Manager Eddie Stanky met with Joe Mathes, director of the minor league clubs, to screen the players in camp and to decide which rookies will remain in the Cardinal uniform for further trial. Coaches usually are included in such conferences.

The bad news—for some of the players—is expected momentarily. Stanky said the other day that it was probable that the squad would be reduced shortly.

Perhaps to give everybody a last look at the border-line cases, or perhaps just because Stanky was tired of seeing his regular lineup lose, the new manager of the Redbirds sent two rookie hurlers and a team made up of reserves, except for Catcher Del Rice, against the Cincinnati Reds yesterday afternoon. And the rookies and reserves did all right. Fred Hahn and Ralph Beard collaborated in a five-hit shutout victory, 2 to 0, and the reserves raced through to the decision in the quickest game of the season here.

Mickelson Shows Class.

Ed Mickelson, the Richmond Heights boy, not on the roster, played first base and did an excellent job. He handled difficult chances, showed agility and grace, and made one of the team's seven hits, a single off Ewell Blackwell. Press box observers who hadn't been watching the Cardinals wanted to know why Steve Bilko was ahead of a fellow who could perform as well as Mickelson did.

Earl Weaver at second, Bob Stephenson at short and Tommy Glaviano at third completed the infield and Larry Miggins, Peanuts Lowrey and Hal Rice did the outfielding. Del Rice caught for three innings, but retired after he was hit on the right elbow by a pitched ball in the third. The injury was not considered serious but Bill Sarni played through the rest of the game.

Stanky probably will want to keep as many pitchers as possible, for further tests in exhibition games. But two or three infielders, an outfielder and several pitchers could be separated from the squad without protest from anybody. One pitcher not on the roster, Willard Schmidt, is very much on it now, however, as a result of his fine performance in exhibition games.

17 Pitchers in Squad.

Nine infielders are on the roster, not counting Vern Benson, the young man who was making the team when he suffered a double fracture of his right leg. The seven outfielders on the roster are not too many, for the training season, but that total could be trimmed. And counting Schmidt, Stanky has 17 pitchers on the Redbird list.

The most difficult task ahead of the new manager and the "screening" board seems to be in deciding about the pitchers. Hahn and Beard certainly pegged themselves as good prospects by their performance against the Reds. Hahn, a smooth left-hander, gave up four hits but no runs and pitched six innings, the first Cardinal to go that far this spring. He did some clutch pitching, too. Bob Adams led off in the fourth with a double, but advanced only as far as third as Hahn retired Johnny Wyrostek, Joe Adcock and Ted Kluszewski on infield grounders. Then Adams tripled with two out in the sixth, but Hahn retired Wyrostek again.

Beard, working the last three innings, yielded only one hit, a scratch single when Adams's hot liner bounced out of Glaviano's glove for a single. The tall redhead struck out four men, three of them in the ninth. It was excellent pitching, even against a team in a slump. The shutout ran the Reds' string of scoreless innings to 25.

Kurland Paces Phillips Into A.A.U. Final

DENVER, March 22 (AP)—Seven-foot Bob Kurland, hitting 19 points and controlling the ball almost at will, last night steered Phillips 66ers into the national A.A.U. basketball final with a 66-49 victory over the United States Air Forces' scrappy but outclassed All-Stars.

The Bartlesville (Okla.) club, shooting for its eighth title in the last 10 A.A.U. meets, will play for the championship tonight against Peoria, Ill. The Illinois Caterpillars shot into the final for the first time with a 49-34 triumph over Hollywood, the team that sidelined defending champion San Francisco Thursday.

Matsuyama Ties For First Place

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22 (UP) — Pretty Masako Katsura, the 88-pound shotmaker from Tokyo, cued her way to an effortless, 50-46 61-inning victory over "giant-killer" Ray Kilgore, San Francisco, in world three cushion billiard championship play last night.

In an earlier match, Kinrey Matsuyama, Tokyo, won his sixth match of the tourney, downing Joe Procita, Los Angeles, 50-25, in 53 frames. By the win, Matsuyama guaranteed himself a chance to challenge for the championship tonight when he plays Willie Hoppe.

Hoppe, defending champion from Drexel Hill, Pa., Jay Bozeman, Vallejo, Calif., and Matsuyama are tied for the lead with 6-2 marks.

Putting Heart and Sole Into It

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

During their match for the 160-pound Open honors in the Ozark A.A.U. meet, JOHN FLYNN, Sherman Park, and IRVIN THATCH (bottom), St. Paul Center, fell halfway through the ropes. More feet are visible than anything else. Even the referee, trying to untangle them, got a foot into the act. Thatch won the decision.

Browns Beat Seals, 8-5, In Basket Picnic Style; Rojek, Rapp Bat in Runs

By L. A. McMaster.
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., March 22—Prizes picked from the Pacific Coast League by the Browns have had a shot at showing the wares that made them famous out here, without burning things up.

Jim Rivera batted three times, sacrificed and singled, Leo Thomas struck out twice and grounded out as the Browns won their first engagement with the Seals, last night, 8 to 5.

It was father and son night as Rogers Hornsby's men struggled for victory while making 14 hits off righthander Ken Wright and lefthander Al Lien. Wright had been in only four games in organized ball before appearing in a previous exhibition.

An attendance of 10,613 was announced, with youngsters of 12 and under being admitted free on coupons when attended by their paying fathers.

Hudson Rescues Mahoney.

Bob Mahoney made his first start for the Browns and went out under a Seal barrage in the fifth. Hal Hudson followed and while having difficulty, prevented further San Francisco scoring.

The game in many parts was like a Sunday basket picnic contest.

The first four Brownies to bat got on base without a score being made. Bobby Young led off with a single but was out going down to second on a pitchout. Then a pass to Rojek, an error on Rivera's grounder, a gift hit by Kryhoski, a forceout and Earl Rapp's single brought two runs.

Darrell Johnson singled off Shortstop Jacinto's glove to start the second. Mahoney forced him and after wandering off first, reached second on Catcher Orteig's wild throw. Rojek singled Mahoney home.

Thus in two frames, six singles, a base on balls and two errors netted Hornsby's men only three runs. Two were left on base in each inning.

Joe Grace, former Brownie outfielder, still can go get 'em. Playing left field for the Seals, he raced to the foul line for a one-hand catch on Johnson in the fourth.

The mountain labored again after Grace's fine play. Mahoney walked and moved upon Young's out. Rojek got a line drive single off Pitcher K. Wright's glove. Rivera walked and Kryhoski singled. There was a bad throw by the catcher and some fancy running by Kryhoski after Dick drew a throw. A "three" went up for the Browns.

Mahoney's luck ran out in the fifth. Hank Biasatti opened with a home run to right. After the next two batters grounded out, there were two walks, a triple by Bob Thurman, two singles and four runs, for San Francisco. Hudson relieved Mahoney in time to yield the fourth hit of the inning.

Hal pitched to six batters in the seventh but got through without a score. There was a single with one down, an error, an infield hit when Hudson sidearmed a third strike past Biasatti. He then got Lien on a soft infield roller.

The Browns' relief platoon leaned on Lien for their last two runs in the ninth. Jim Delsing got his second straight single, Frank Kellert walked, Jim Dyck singled and Freddie Marsh singled for the scores.

Gene Bearden and Earl Harrist are scheduled to pitch for the Browns against Oakland this afternoon.

3 Open Champs Retain Honors In Ozark Boxing

By Neal Russo

Heinz had nothing on the Ozark A.A.U. boxing finals last night. There were more than 57 varieties of entertainment at Alhambra Grotto, including a heavyweight novice bout pitting a 6-foot-7-inch truck driver weighing 230 against a 5-10½ 185-pound boy in his first match.

Right after that fight, two lads under 80 pounds fought. A lightweight had an open title all sewed up, then was disqualified because, in his anger at the referee, he stepped through the ropes late in the final round. An upset stomach prevented one bout, and a 6-foot-6 steel worker won out in the final bout.

But the show-stealer was the 126-pound final in which Donald Johnson, 118-pound winner a year ago, and Joe Vitale, 16-year-old shipping clerk just out of the novice division, hooked up in a steady-swinging bout. Johnson was the winner but Vitale, weary but game, fought hard in spots after a torrid first round and gave Johnson plenty to worry about in the final round.

Two other 1951 Ozark Open champions repeated, not including Bernard Dean of Tandy, unopposed at 112 pounds. Patrick Moynihan of South Broadway A. C. came through as expected at 147 pounds against Southpaw Jerry Grey of Tandy Center. However, said Coach Joe Weber of S.B.A.C., "Moynihan fought with a pulled hip muscle against the advice of his doctor." The Beaumont High boy, 135-pound winner last year, looked rather healthy in outclassing Grey all the way.

Leroy Robinson of St. Paul Social Center, 6-foot-6, floored Percy Davis of Tandy in each round before scoring a T.K.O. in the third to retain his heavyweight title.

Joe Chandler, a classy 118-pounder from Scott Air Force Base by way of Florida and New Orleans, repeated his Golden Gloves semi-final victory over Andy Gasparovic, aggressive Granite City Moose boy.

After leading by a wide margin over Clarence Mayes of Granite City, who was obviously favoring a cut over the left eye, Erroll Goudeau of Gamble Center showed his objection to scolding about illegal tactics by stepping through the ropes late in the third round. So Referee Dick Young disqualified him.

In other open finals, Irvin Thatch of St. Paul Center kept in close to avoid John Flynn's dangerous right and outpointed the 160-pound Sherman Center boy, and Ronald Conover of South Broadway defaulted in the 175-pound final to Elmer Mitchell of Ringside A.C. when his stomach flared up.

Thus, although Coaches Joe Weber of South Broadway and Charley O'Kelly of Tandy had three boxers apiece in the open finals, Pop Myles of St. Paul Social Center was the only coach with more than one open champion. He had Thatch and Robinson.

Open winners qualified for the National A.A.U. tournament at Boston and the Olympic trials.

In the heavyweight novice title match, 6-7 William Thomas of Tandy Center puzzled stablemate Levi Lewis with his great advantage in reach and scored a first-round T.K.O.

Pete Cooper and Worsham Tied in Florida Tourney

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 22 (UP)—Pete Cooper and Lew Worsham set out to break their first-place deadlock in today's second round of the Jacksonville open golf tournament as favored Jackie Burke trailed by six strokes in the par-busting field.

Cooper of White Plains, N. Y., and Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., shot six-under-par 66's to share a slim, one-stroke lead as 28 of the 140 starters cracked the Hyde Park course's 72 standard in yesterday's open.ng round.

The leaders had so much success with the course that Burke's even par 72 left him far back in the pack with 54 holes to play.

Earl Stewart of Dallas, Tex.; Bob Gadja of Birmingham, Mich., and Bob Toski of Northampton, Mass., were closest to the two leaders. They posted 67's for the first 18 holes. Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y., was only two strokes behind the top pair after opening with 68.

Marty Furgol of Lamont, Ill., John Palmer of Badin, N. C., Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y.; Bobby Locke of South Africa and Tommy Bolt of Durham, N. C., were next with 69's.

Sam Snead, the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., veteran who won the non-P. G. A. Seminole golf tournament earlier this week, had 71. He shared that bracket with 11 others, including such stars as Cary Middlecoff, Jim Ferrier and Ed Oliver.

Both Cooper and Worsham fired seven birdies over the 6508-yard layout.

Fitzsimmons to Play Ft. Wood In Title Game

FORT LEONARD WOOD, Mo., March 22 (AP)—Fitzsimons General Hospital of Denver defeated Fort Riley, Kan., 63-60, last night to win a place in the final of the Fifth Army basketball tournament. The victory was the fourth for the Fitzsimons squad in two days.

Fitzsimons will meet Fort Leonard Wood tomorrow for the tournament title. The winner will represent the Fifth Army area in the all-Army tournament at San Antonio next month.

Randall Barrow, big center from the University of Wichita, sparked the hospital five with 20 points. He piled up 47 points in the afternoon when Fitzsimons downed Camp McCoy, Wis., 74 to 70.

Mt. Vernon and Quincy Play in State Semi-Final

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., March 22 (AP)—Hebron's top ranking title favorites rolled through their second round test last night and advanced with Rock Island, Quincy and Mount Vernon into this afternoon's semi-finals of the Illinois prep basketball playoffs.

All four quarterfinal winners turned in impressive triumphs, with the duel between Quincy and Taylorville providing the most thrills.

Continuing the brilliant shooting which has marked their efforts all season, the Green Giants from Hebron had no trouble eliminating Lawrenceville, 65-55.

Hebron had too much of everything—speed, rebounding and accuracy at the hoop—for the smaller Lawrenceville Indians to make it a close battle.

The meeting with the towering Rock Island Rocks in the semi-finals should furnish Hebron with its first real tussle of the tournament, Mount Vernon meets Quincy

Rock Island qualified for a crack at the Green Giants by whipping a long-shooting Jacksonville quintet, 61-49.

Quincy Wins Thriller.

The No. 2 rated Blue Devils of Quincy engaged in an excitement-packed game with surprisingly tough Taylorville entry and just managed to come up with a victory, 69-64. Although the winning margin was close, Mount Vernon was in command all the way against Pinckneyville, which bowed out of the tourney, 55-51.

The tall Quincy club, playing without a substitution, was pressed hard all the way. Many times Quincy couldn't cope with Taylorville's furious speed and dazzling passing.

Mostly, it was a case of too much Quincy height plus the fine shooting of their 6-foot, 5-inch center, Bruce Brothers, who pushed through 25 points. Taylorville's ace, Bill Ridley, was held to 12 points but it was his clever passing and ball handling that sparked the Tornadoes in coming close to pulling the tournament's first major upset.

During the red-hot first half, the Taylorville boys clicked on 50 per cent of their shots from the field. At that Quincy was not far outmatched.

Brothers got most of his points with jump-up shots from in close. His chief aides in the scoring department were Jack Gower and Dick Thompson, each with 13.

Ridley delighted the crowd in Huff Gym with his fancy dribbling and sharp passing. Once, when he was cornered by the Quincy defense, he passed the ball between a Quincy player's legs to get out of the jam. Guard Ron Viskozki paced the Taylorville attack with 19 points. Teammate Bill Campbell had 14.

Close All the Way.

Free throws actually made the difference in the outcome. Taylorville counted two more goals from the field, but Quincy had 19 free throws compared with Taylorville's 10.

The loss—second of the season for Taylorville—snapped a 23-game winning streak.

In the contest matching the two Southern Illinois quintets, the Mount Vernon Rams moved ahead of Pinckneyville right at the start and held off desperate bids by their old and bitter rival.

The Panthers from Pinckneyville pulled within two points in each of the first three periods. Mount Vernon counted its last eight points on free throws as three Pinckneyville players left the game via the five personal foul route.

The Stokes brothers, Mose and Jim, handled rebounds in fine fashion for Mount Vernon and with Mak Mannen stood out in the Rams' lineup.

For Coach Stanley Changnon, the Mount Vernon victory kept alive his hopes for this third state title in the last four years.

Forwards Warren Talley and Gene Place topped the Pinckneyville scoring with 15 and 12 points respectively. Center Jack David, the best rebounder Pinckneyville had, fouled out with about four minutes to play. Both teams showed respectable shooting percentages, with Mount Vernon hitting at .346 clip and Pinckneyville at .364.

Wilbrandt Tops Scorers.

Hebron breezed through to its conquest of Lawrenceville's Indians chiefly on the strength of some remarkable shooting and a smooth-functioning fast break.

Don Wilbrandt, 5-11 forward, was on the scoring end of most of the fast break plays that produced many easy layups for the favored Green Giants. Wilbrandt meshed in 18 tallies to pace Hebron's attack.

Hebron pushed through better than half of its shots from the floor and the sizzling .528 percentage was the highest in the tournament so far. Lawrenceville's average was .273.

At the end of the first quarter, Hebron had a 20-12 advantage and expanded this to 38-21 at the half and 51-40 at the three-quarters mark.

During the waning minutes of the final quarter, Lawrenceville tired and the alert Hebron lads stole the ball several times and converted the thefts into quick baskets.

Although it recovered from a bad start and won easily, Rock Island wasn't the same classy outfit that crushed the strong Thornton Wildcats in the first round.

Sheer size and ruggedness were perhaps the main ingredients in the Rocks' triumph over Jacksonville.

One of the big boys, 6-foot 5-inch Merrill Clark, hit a hot streak in the first half and his 14 consecutive points brought the Rocks from behind to a 20-19 lead.

Jacksonville got off to an early lead on the strength of fine long shooting, including four baskets of 20 feet or more by Bill Williams. The Jacks couldn't keep it up, and never threatened in the late stages of the game.

Turner Ready for Kid Gavilan After Stopping Don Williams

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—A July title fight between undefeated 21-year-old Gil Turner and Welterweight Champion Kid Gavilan was in the making today following the Philadelphia sensation's seven-round technical knockout of Don Williams last night.

Young Gil, a ball of fire all the way in his Madison Square Garden triumph, said "I'm ready for Gavilan. Bring him on."

George Katz, Turner's manager, said "A Gavilan-Turner bout in Philadelphia this July would draw $350,000, including television and radio money. The kid is a tremendous draw in his home town.

"I've turned down three non-title fights with Gavilan for Turner," added Katz. "We want that title shot. The kid's ready now. I'll get him one fight in April, one in May, and then rest him for the July fight. We'd have to wait until then because of the coming Ezzard Charles-Jersey Joe Walcott fight in June."

Matchmaker Al Weill of the International Boxing Club said he would do what he could about making the title fight. He probably won't have much difficulty selling the Cuban and his representatives once they start talking about the big money Katz is mentioning.

Garden and TV fans really got an eyeful in Turner. He froze a little in his Garden and TV debut with Vic Cardell on Dec. 28 although he won by a wide margin. Against Williams, he lost by a bare shade to Gavilan in Boston last month, Turner wasted no time. He started throwing leather from the opening bell and hardly stopped for a moment.

In the seventh round of the scheduled 10, he belted the slender Worcester, Mass., choir singer with 110 punches by boxing writers' count. At the end of the seventh, Referee Ray Miller called in Dr. Vincent Nardiello for a consultation and then the official stopped the bout. It was listed as a seventh-round TKO under New York rules.

For Turner, who weighed 147½ to Williams's 146½, it was his thirtieth consecutive victory in less than two years of pro fighting. He has scored 23 knockouts.

The crowd of 5254, which paid $16,274 for the nationally broadcast and telecast bout, apparently agreed with the officials' decision. There was only a light scattering of boos.

Both judges, Harold Barnes and Bert Grant, had Turner in front, 6-1, while Miller had the Philadelphian in front, 4-2-1. The Associated Press score card had Turner ahead, 5-2.

Dayton Starters Foul Out; Illini Five Wins 80-61

CHICAGO, March 22 (UP)—There was the usual rhubarb about officiating from the vanquished today, but Illinois and Duquesne will meet tonight with the winner to advance to the semi-finals of the N.C.A.A. tournament.

Harry Baujan, athletic director at Dayton, beaten by Illinois, 80 to 61, after five Flyer players went out on fouls, made nearly every charge in the book about poor calls.

"They had to take our five best boys off the floor to win," he said. "You can't win against a Big Ten team here. It's the worst officiating I've ever seen. We've played lots of better ball clubs. We outplayed them but lost on the fouls."

Dayton lost its starting lineup, Pete Boyle, John Horan, Don Meineke, Chet Grigsby and Lee Norris, on five fouls apiece in an eight-minute stretch leading into the fourth. Meanwhile, Illinois had lost its starting center, Bob Peterson for the same reason.

But before the first Dayton man was ruled off the court, the Illini had pulled to a four-point lead on eight consecutive third-period points by Jim Bredar, a 5-foot 10-inch speedster, and they never were headed thereafter.

Duquesne boasted superior rebounding from Jim Tucker and Dick Ricketts to outlast Princeton, 60 to 49. Chuck Devoe, the Princeton ace from Indianapolis, was the star of the game, however, with 23 points, compared to 16 for Jim Kennedy, high point man for Duquesne.

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Kentucky's basketball team lived up to expectations last night as the N.C.A.A. eliminations opened. The mighty Wildcats from the Blue Grass country, rated the No. 1 team in the country and aiming for their second straight N.C.A.A. crown, walloped Penn State, 82 to 54, before 11,000 in Raleigh. All-America Cliff Hagan led Kentucky with 20 points as the Wildcats romped to their twenty-third straight triumph.

St. John's, Wyoming and Santa Clara kept pace with Kentucky in the first round play. All were favored with the exception of Santa Clara, surprise 68-59 victor over U.C.L.A. in the West Coast competition at Corvallis.

St. John's stood off a late North Carolina State rally to beat the Wolfpack, 60-49, in the second game at Raleigh.

Rugged Wyoming successfully stalled the last four minutes to down Oklahoma City, 54-48, before 5520 at Corvallis following U.C.L.A.'s unexpected defeat.

Seeded Players Tennis Winners

Three of the four seeded players in the men's singles event, Ralph Hart, Bob Ziervogel and Bob Light, advanced to the quarterfinals in the Missouri Valley indoor tennis tournament at the 138th Infantry Armory, last night. The remaining seeded player and defending titleholder, Frank Thompson, won from Fred Varner, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, to reach the second round on yesterday's opening program.

211 Killed as Tornadoes Strike in Six States set up in the First Methodist Church basement.

Those with minor injuries sat dazed in the hospital lobby or prayed quietly in the church.

Searchers found Mr. and Mrs. Oscar White dead several hundred yards from their smashed home on the outskirts of Dyersburg. Nearby their granddaughter, "Sissie" White, was alive and crying.

Joe Williamson, a state highway patrolman from Brownsville, Tenn., was killed when his patrol car was lifted by the wind and hurled 500 feet end over end.

'All Over in a Second.'

W. E. Price of Bonicord said he had walked to the door and looked out at the wild sky just before the twister demolished his home. His wife and son were killed.

"We didn't have time to get out; it was all over in a second," he declared.

At Byhalia, Miss., where nine persons were killed, witnesses said the tornado turned the midnight skies "pink—there was a deafening roar, followed by a dead calm, then the clouds suddenly began shining and whirling."

Wrecking crews were laboring early today, leveling houses that were dangerously damaged.

The Red Cross poured scores of disaster workers into the stricken region.

Sanitary engineers were sent from Little Rock to Judsonia, Ark., after that town's water tower was blown down. Bald Knob, Ark., like many other towns, was without electricity, and a portable generator was rushed there to provide illumination for emergency operations.

A combination of moderately low barometric pressure over the south and high pressure to the north made conditions favorable for windstorms yesterday. The low pressure was centered over Oklahoma and Texas. Winds began to swirl around the low-pressure center, and the first of the tornadoes was reported shortly before 3 p.m.

Hail and torrential downpours accompanied the devastating wind, adding to the misery and hampering rescue operations.

The Tennessee Highway Patrol reported "about 14" persons had been drowned in flood waters in Sumner county. Mr. and Mrs. Albert O'Neal and their five children were reported drowned at Scottsville, Ky., when rising waters of Garrett's creek washed their home away. Five of the bodies have not been recovered.

Flood victims, listed separately, were not included in the total of tornado deaths.

Water poured into homes at Middlesboro, Ky., after a cloudburst this morning. The northwestern section of the city was inundated to a depth of two to six feet.

Shortly after midnight a tornado hit Hodgenville, Ky., demolishing the Larue county fairgrounds and several homes. Ten persons were injured, but there were no deaths.

Tornado In Texas.

The east Texas town of Alto was hit at 1 a.m. today by a tornado which demolished some homes and unroofed many more, but no one was hurt.

An hour later a windstorm lashed Shreveport, La., and an unidentified Negro was electrocuted when he walked into a power line that had been blown down.

Henderson, Tenn., was hit by a second tornado today as its populace was wrestling with debris from yesterday's twister. Several more houses were wrecked.

ambulance to the Hayti hospital, where her son died just before midnight.

Another victim, Calbert Castman, was found pinned against his house, which had been blown several feet against a truck.

The tornado also was responsible for the death of 13-year-old Virginia Mason. She was seriously ill of pneumonia last night when the huge wind carried away her house and deposited her a short distance away.

She lay in the rain for more than two hours before her father found her. She wasn't hurt by the tornado, but died later in the Hayti Hospital of exposure.

The death-dealing tornado also played tricks. An automobile with three persons riding in it was lifted off the road and set down in a field nearly a mile away. The passengers were only shaken up.

Harold Hanby, a power company superintendent, said one of his linemen reported that a home was left almost intact in the middle of a road. At another point, the big wind left a truck in a tree.

Sheriff E. F. Claxton said the search for bodies in wreckage would be continued. Searching parties weer hampered because heavy rains flooded many sections of the low-lying farm lands in the disaster area.

Pemiscot county, the scene of the destruction, is in the southernmost tip of Missouri, along the Mississippi river.

Power lines throughout the area were blown down and some sections of Caruthersville and Blytheville were without lights for six hours after the storm. Communications also were crippled, leaving police radio as the only contact.

POLE STEERS BOAT AGROUND OFF SWEDISH PORT TO FLEE

STOCKHOLM, March 22 (UP)—A Polish fisherman, who kept three crew mates at bay with a signal pistol while he steered their boat aground off a Swedish port, asked for political asylum in Sweden today.

"I could not stand conditions in Poland any longer," the 30-year-old Pole told police at Aahus.

St. Louisan Says Tornado Snapped Utility Poles Like Matchsticks

Salesman's Auto Nearly Shoved Off Road Near Searcy — He Tells of Flattened Homes.

LOUIS ERRICO

Louis Errico, a St. Louis salesman, thought at first he had a flat tire when the edge of a tornado nearly shoved his automobile off the road last night between Searcy and Judsonia, Ark.

"About two minutes later, I saw flattened houses and telephone poles snapped off like matchsticks, and I knew it was a tornado," he told the Post-Dispatch.

Errico, who lives at 215 South Taylor avenue and was returning to St. Louis after a selling trip, counted 50 wrecked automobiles in about two miles and said only masonry buildings were left standing.

"I saw one family just making their way out of what was left of their house," he said. "They seemed numbed by the shock and began picking around in the ruins.

"A little farther on I saw a barn that was completely flattened except for one little corner. A cow happened to be right in that part of the barn, and it was looking out, apparently unhurt.

Highway a Tangle of Wires.

"The highway was a tangle of fallen telephone poles and electric wires," he said. "On some of the wires that were still up, I saw sheets of the corrugated iron they use for roofs in that part of the country. The iron sheets had been whipped through the air with such force that they wrapped themselves around the wires."

Nails, screws, broken glass and other wreckage was scattered along the highway, with a result that Errico had three flat tires in the next two hours, he said.

ROWS OF BODIES EXAMINED FOR MISSING PERSONS

standing in the 11-mile stretch between Judsonia and Morning Sun, Ark.

Camp Amid Debris.

At Judsonia, and at nearby Bald Knob, where at least 10 persons were killed, families were camping today around the few household possessions they had been able to salvage, cooking their meals amid the debris while rescue workers dug through the wreckage in search of casualties of the storm.

Martial law was declared at Judsonia, and National Guardsmen were on duty. Road blocks set up on United States Highway 67, along which the White county twister moved, to keep unauthorized persons out of Judsonia and Bald Knob. Rescue and repair operations had been severely hampered by swarms of sightseers since shortly after the tornado struck last night.

Service on the Missouri Pacific Railroad was disrupted by telephone poles and other debris blown on the tracks. All utilities in the area were operating, if at all, on an emergency basis, and townspeople here in Searcy were asked to use electricity sparingly.

Officials said the most pressing need of the victims of the storm was food and clothing. Disaster workers said sufficient quantities of medical supplies and blood plasma had been collected by noon today, and emergency measures were being taken to prevent any possible epidemics as a result of destruction and disruption of water supply facilities.

Persons at Judsonia and other towns throughout the stricken area, probing their memories of the horrible moments when the storm struck, were convinced it was more powerful than the usual tornadoes which often buffet this part of the country.

A. O. Stevens, a student at Harding college here and a former seaman, said, "If it had been at sea it would have been called a hurricane at its worst. It was a huge green and black cloud moving across a wide front.

"It didn't just his suddenly and swoop off. It hit and just kept on blowing, with the force of the wind increasing in intensity."

At Cotton Plant, in adjoining Woodruff county, Dr. W. J. B. Williams, said the tornado sounded like "the roar of two or three freight trains." Dr. Williams, Cotton Plant's only physician, said he treated about 65 persons who streamed in for first aid.

At least 22 residents of Cotton Plant were killed in the disaster, the Red Cross reported.

Mrs. Julia York was with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Barr, in their home in Judsonia when the storm struck there about 5:15 p.m.

"I looked out the window and the sky seemed to be right on top of the house," she said. "Then I noticed that the house across the street seemed to be shaking, and then it jumped off its foundations and began to roll across the street toward us.

"Then the storm hit our house. My daughter shoved me to the floor, and it felt as though we were going to suffocate or be banged to death against the walls before we could get out.

"I must have fainted, because the next thing I remember was my daughter screaming that her husband was pinned under the house. She picked me up then and ran to the grocery on the corner. There was nothing left but a pile of bricks. Some people grabbed me and put me in a car and took me to Searcy."

Barr was pinned under the wrecked house and killed.

Rescue workers dug through the wreckage of the Holmes cafe at Judsonia for five hours last night and early today before they finally found the body of Glenda Fern Eadie, 15 years old, of nearby Providence, Ark.

She had gone to Judsonia yesterday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Eadie, and her brothers, Ed and Bobbie, to sell strawberry plants. When they saw the storm approaching, they sought protection in the cafe.

The brick building was blown into a pile of rubble by the tornado. Mrs. Eadie, Ed and Glenda Fern were killed. Eadie and Bobbie were seriously injured.

Ivan H. Peterson Sworn In.

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—Ivan H. Peterson, former assistant to Senator Morse (Rep.), Oregon, was sworn in yesterday as a member of the National Labor Relations Board. He replaces James J. Reynolds, who resigned to take a job in private industry. Peterson worked with the board from 1938 through 1946, ending up as assistant general counsel.

RED CROSS SENDS 32 WORKERS INTO TORNADO AREAS

Agency Also Dispatches Whole Blood and Plasma to Little Rock and Hayti, Mo.

Thirty-two Red Cross disaster relief workers have been sent to the Arkansas and southern Missouri tornado areas, the Red Cross midwestern area office here reported today.

In addition, the Red Cross regional blood center here flew 25 pints of blood plasma to Little Rock and dispatched 24 pints of whole blood and 24 pints of plasma to Hayti, Mo., by the State Highway Patrol.

Some 150 cots and 300 blankets were sent by truck from here early today to Cotton Plant, Ark., where the Red Cross reported 1 dead and about 150 injured. The same number of cots and blankets made available by the Army at Pine Bluff, Ark., were moved to England, northeast of Little Rock.

In Washington, the Red Cross said it had allocated $250,000 for relief work. Disaster workers sent to Tennessee and Mississippi brought the total to 50.

It happened that officials of the Little Rock Red Cross already were in session when first word of the tornadoes was received. They were holding a progress meeting in the current fund-raising campaign.

Blood-Donor Unit in Storm.

One of the Red Cross mobile blood-donor units was caught in a tornado at Searcy, Ark., en route from Newport to Little Rock. The unit was undamaged, officials said, and nurses and technicians went to work to help the injured—aided by 100 pints of whole blood the unit had collected earlier in the day.

The Red Cross said it had 1 of its professional disaster relief workers on the scene by midnight last night. Four went to Howard county, southwest of Little Rock, where storm damage first was reported. Four others went to Little Rock to set up headquarters in a hotel. The other five were sent into the area northeast of Little Rock.

Nineteen additional disaster experts were called out early today and were on their way to the tornado area from various points in the Red Cross's 16-state Midwest region.

St. Louisans at Work.

St. Louisans who joined the relief operation early today included Dr. Raymond Barnes, midwestern medical adviser; Henry Eichman, assistant regional director of disaster relief, and Miss Helen Flanagan, disaster nursing director.

In most communities, homeless persons are finding shelter with friends and relatives, a Red Cross spokesman said, but shelters have been set up at Marked Tree and Cotton Plant.

Plasma sent from St. Louis went to replenish the Red Cross bank at Little Rock, where battered and bleeding men, women and children quickly used up more than 200 pints of blood on hand when the disaster struck. The Red Cross also supplied two emergency power generators and four portable water purifiers.

Capt. Olin Brigman, disaster chairman of the Salvation Army midland division, with headquarters here, placed his facilities at the disposal of the Salvation Army's Louisville (Ky.) office which is handling disaster relief in Arkansas. Maj. F. S. Hodgman of the Salvation Army's Camp Girardeau office set out for Hayti and Cooter, Mo., to direct relief volunteers.

$1,000,000 BLAZE SWEEPS 4 BLOCKS OF ALASKAN TOWN

WRANGELL, Alaska, March 22 (UP)—Fire from an explosion in a hardware store furnace destroyed half of this Alaska coastal fishing town today and caused damage estimated at $1,000,000.

The blaze, whipped by 30-mile-an-hour winds, raced north and south over a four-block area and leveled 21 waterfront buildings. About 100 persons, including those from the town's only hotel, were driven from their homes.

Every able-bodied man in town—about 400—turned out to fight the fire. Charges of dynamite were set off in an unsuccessful attempt to stop the flames.

In one of the blasts Cpl. Darrell Miller of the Alaska communication system, a volunteer fireman, was injured when struck on the head by a flying timber.

It was Wrangell's first major fire since 1906 when all building on the land side of the main street were razed.

Ex-Movie Moppet

No Pigtails Now For Mary M'Carty

By Clarissa Start

BACK in the days when Shirley Temple wore curls and ruffled pinafores, Mary McCarty wore pigtails, hornrimmed glasses, and braces on her teeth. Neither glasses nor braces were necessary, but among the moppet starlets of that day, she was the comic foil for the cutie pies.

Mary M'Carty

Today Mary is a cutie pie herself, a pretty comedienne with several musical comedy successes in her past and a new career as supper club soloist under way. At the Chase Club, where lusty-voiced Mary is currently appearing, she illustrates why critics have compared her to Ethel Merman, in such numbers as, "I Gotta Stay Sober Tonight" ("Men never make passes at girls with just a little charred water in their glasses"), and a twangy guitar take-off on the foggy, foggy dew school of folk singers.

★ ★ ★

DRAWING ON HER OWN experience in every kind of night spot, she does a take-off on night club singers, portraying such characters as the girl who blames every sour note on the piano player, the debutante chanteuse, the girl who's sung in the same saloon for five years and knows all the customers, and the young singer who's been sold an over-arranged arrangement that starts out with Gershwin and ends up with Oklahoma-okay.

"Like a lot of my material, that one's based on real experience," Mary said, over a luncheon of non-fattening fish and fattening chocolate pie. "I met an arranger like that when I first started out singing but I couldn't afford his over-arranged arrangements. I guess there's a little malice in the number."

Right now, Mary works out most of her own songs, is delving further into her past for a satirical sketch which will include actual scenes from movies in which she appeared, with Jane Withers, Shirley Temple, and Judy Garland. As she runs off old films (borrowed from Fox) Mary will provide a comedy commentary.

★ ★ ★

HER EARLY FILM CAREER seems funny to her now but it was very serious at the time. Part-Irish, part-Osage Indian, Mary Theresa McCarty (without the "h") was born in Winfield, Kan., and taken to California by her movie-struck mother when her parents separated. One night in a Los Angeles theater, a drawing for a refrigerator was held and when they asked for a child volunteer to draw the winning number, Mary's mother jet-propelled her up the aisle. A director who was in the audience asked her mother to bring her to the studio.

"So I became a chorus girl at age five in a picture called 'Bubbles,'" Mary recalled. "I remember in the very beginning, I always took all my dancing school costumes with me. I thought you never knew when they'd call on you to do a number. I'd been brought up on movies in which the unknown could become a star overnight. Gradually I learned better."

★ ★ ★

EVENTUALLY MARY BECAME reconciled to being a supporting player, usually made up to look as unattractive as possible—"so the others would look favorable in contrast." By the time she was 15 she had reached the awkward age and her movie career was over. There followed a series of minor jobs as ballad and torch singer, and a USO tour with the Jack Carson unit. At one time, Mary was singing nights in a club called the Hollywood Tropics and taking a two-year course at the Immaculate Heart College during the day. At still another low ebb in her career, she applied for a job with an all-girl band, representing herself as a bass drummer. With an advance of $100, she joined the musicians' union and reported for work. No one had told her bass drums had to be fastened down so at the first hefty wallop, hers skidded across the night club floor and knocked down a customer. She was fired and out of the musicians' union in short order. Figuring she was getting nowhere fast, she decided to head for New York.

"I knew if I wanted to be a comedienne, New York was the place," she says. "Hollywood is too glamour conscious, and I knew I wasn't the ingenue type."

★ ★ ★

IN NEW YORK SHE LIVED in a walk-up flat, played club and theater dates and got a part in a show called "Sleepy Hollow" which folded in six days. Just when it looked as if her career had ended inauspiciously a second time, she went into "Small Wonder," a 1949 musical. In a take-off on Texas oilmen, Mary, wearing ermine-fringed bra and cowboy pants, sang, "Ballad for Billionaires," and with her bellowing of its delicate lyrics—"Get your little carcass down to Neiman-Marcus, buy yerself a mess of mink"—she became a star and had her salary doubled overnight. Her next two shows, "Miss Liberty" and "Bless You All" helped her farther along.

Now Mary, who was moving from hotel to hotel every five days when she went into "Small Wonder," has an apartment "with something very unusual for New York, a fireplace and a backyard with two trees." Since her mother's death, Mary has no family but hopes to start her own some day. She's engaged to a young man in California, eventually expects to marry and settle down. She figures that after 23 years in show business she finally has proof of her success.

"When I first came to New York I had $14," she says. "For a while I would tell people, 'Now I have $14.50,' but that's changed. More truthfully I can say, 'Now I owe $14.'"

TORNADO PATHS OF DESTRUCTION AND DEATH

Splintered remains of a group of homes mark devastating swath cut by tornado that struck Dierks, Ark., yesterday—one of a series of deadly storms that swept sections of that state, the Missouri Bootheel, western Tennessee and North Mississippi. Note piece of metal roofing wrapped about tree. More than 200 persons were killed and the list of the injured exceeded 1000. Hardest hit sector was northeast Arkansas.

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Aided by a lantern, Josh Matthews, 72-year-old resident of England, Ark., inspects rubbish topped by mattress on splintered floor—all that is left of his home, which was swept away by the storm. Search for victims in wreckage of homes and buildings continued today. Property damage was heavy in this town, southeast of Little Rock, the capital. Hospitals in county seats and larger cities were flooded with patients and American Red Cross disaster teams moved rapidly to set up first aid centers and shelters.

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

At a first aid center set up at a filling station which escaped the tornadic blast at Dierks, Dr. E. V. Dildy and Nurse Marie Porter attend Mrs. William Blagg, who lies in rear of a pick-up truck. She was seriously injured. Dierks, a lumber town, suffered heavy property damage. More than 100 perished in the Arkansas storms.

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Storm that dipped into western Tennessee last night sheared off half this house at Moscow, but a rocking chair in kitchen (at left) and china cabinet in dining room remain upright. The owner, J. W. Stafford, and his family escaped injury by taking refuge in a storm cellar at a neighbor's home.

—United Press Telephoto.

W. F. Foster, a Red Cross worker in the Arkansas storm zone, gently covers two injured and frightened Negro children brought into an emergency center at England. Hail, rain and outbreaks of fire added to the misery of the injured and the homeless. One Arkansas twister swept into the Missouri Bootheel, with the Caruthersville-Hayti sector bearing the brunt of the blow.

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Martha Carr's OPINION

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM 18 years old, and graduated from high school in January. I have a good job but do not feel it is worthy enough. I have several relatives overseas in the armed forces and want to help in some way. During the last year I entertained by dancing in the USO centers. But now I do not know of any here in St. Louis. Could you please give me the name and address of any center where I may be able to help, if not by entertaining, doing Red Cross work, etc. BARBARA.

The St. Louis USO center is in Soldier's Memorial. There you will find a long list of suggestions for volunteers who want to help. The Red Cross always needs dependable volunteers and you can inquire about jobs at the St. Louis Red Cross office, 3414 Lindell boulevard, FRanklin 4980. You will find dozens of other agencies which need volunteer help through the Social Planning Council, 505 North Seventh street, GArfield 2600.

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM 16 and have been going steady with a boy 18. When we first started going out we promised each other that if either of us wanted to go out with someone else we should tell the other. Lately he has been neglecting me and the other day I saw him with another girl. I don't think he is being quite fair and yet I am very fond of him. If he would tell me he is dating someone else I think I would feel better but I don't know how to ask him. UNHAPPY.

★ ★ ★

Are you certain that he actually had a date with the other girl, or had he just met her by chance? Don't jump to conclusions but if you have reason to feel he is not being fair, there is only one thing to do, and that is talk it over with him frankly. Perhaps he has found he doesn't want to go steady and you would have a lot more fun dating several boys instead of sitting at home waiting for this one to show up.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO Spoiled: If your parents object to your going steady, I think you are making a serious mistake by doing so without their knowledge. You should not have accepted expensive jewelry from this boy.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO J. and A.: Send announcements to the boys, if you wish, but not to the adults, especially if you do not know them well. Graduation pictures should not be sent with the announcements.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO J.K.: Go with your parents to your priest or minister and ask him for counsel in this problem. Perhaps he can talk with your husband to find out the reason for his drinking.

Gaining Freedom

By Angelo Patri

EVERY action, every phase of life, is ordained by immutable law. Water will drown; fire will burn; getting must follow giving. There is a price on everything that touches the life of mankind and there is no dodging that price. We all must live by the law. Whenever we try to evade it, we are punished by failure. Too late we learn that defiance of nature's laws, life's ways, is certain to be met with grief and tears and the loss of what we have taken outside the law.

Every so often, men grown proud in their mastery of nature and life's ways forget and try to make laws for themselves. They forget that the only way good can be purchased and held is by giving it in as generous a portion as possible. They take what they have not purchased by service; they let greed devour them; they try to reap where they have not sown. That is impossible. They for a time seem to have succeeded but the law begins its slow advance and soon its weight bears down upon the grasping ones and their place knows them no more. The law is uppermost always.

★ ★ ★

FREEDOM IS A SPIRITUAL MATTER. Those who think to buy it with wealth grasped in the hands of greed know no freedom. Those who would maintain it at the expense of others lose what little they ever knew of it. Those who would take it by force see it slip through their hands. Only the pure in heart know freedom.

It is sad to see young people binding themselves with chains of evil in the mistaken notion that they are asserting their freedom. When a young person declares that he will do as he pleases, keep late hours, drink, gamble, what not, he certainly is not freeing himself.

When anybody, young or old, seeks freedom in defiance of good, in defiance of other folks' welfare, they are not asserting freedom. They are asserting the power of error and error has no lasting power. Error dies of its own evil. Good never dies. No matter how often it's denied, obscured, belittled, it remains, and in time, returns in full power and glory.

★ ★ ★

MY CONCERN is with children and young people. They must know that every time they forsake the way they know is good for a brief moment of fun they know to be wrong, they bind themselves. Each action that denies good adds another bond to the spirit. The only freedom there is in earth and heaven is the freedom of the spirit and that is born of goodness, righteousness, service.

Life has its price. It has its stern laws. Freedom must be gained under those laws and at this price. There is no other way. Teach that and you teach true knowledge.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

A VERY trying situation to encounter is described by the writer of this letter: "Last week I was invited to a friend's house for dinner. She does her own cooking and considers herself an expert cook. The first course served was vegetable soup. When I started to eat it, I noticed that there were several little vegetable bugs floating on the top. To make matters worse, my hostess had mentioned before dinner that we were having vegetable soup and I said that I liked it very much and therefore I could hardly refuse it. Will you please tell me what I should have done under the circumstances?"

If you could bear to do it, the extreme of polite behavior would have been to put them up on one side of your plate and then have eaten from the other side. Otherwise, you would have to leave the soup untouched, and if your hostess asks you, "What is wrong with your soup?" you would have had to tell her the truth!

★ ★ ★

DEAR MRS. POST: I have a very beautiful daughter, but this fact often embarrasses me because I don't know how to answer the compliments that other people pay her. What shall I say when they tell me, "You have a very beautiful daughter"?

Answer: Usually you merely say, "Thank you." But on occasion, you can say, "Of course I think so, but I am pleased to have you say so."

Ode Written To Average Mother-in-Law

By Elsie Robinson

MAYBE Milton wrote an ode on this one or Shakespeare or Keats, but to the best of my knowledge it's 100 per cent original. For it's an ode to mothers-in-law.

Yes, you have read about these women. And usually what you read was written in a jocular vein . . . picking at their faults . . . peering into their foibles . . . making them seem the family goat.

But have you ever read an article that showed most mothers-in-law to be the family blessing which they usually are? I doubt it. Yet if ever a woman deserved a full sized halo, it's the average mother-in-law.

★ ★ ★

SHE KEEPS the home from rocking when the going is rough. She smooths out the endless little tiffs that so often end in tragedy otherwise. She comforts the temperamental tads when their little lives become too difficult. She remembers Jim's favorite pudding and Sally's pet peeve.

And despite all this, she's human like the rest of us. She too has her times of indignation and her long buried griefs. She too would like to indulge in tantrums and give way to little hurts. But she keeps the faith and steers the ship to a safe harbor—usually without thanks. I know a score of homes that would shatter to bits were it not for the same firm presence of some mother-in-law who gets too rarely an affectionate kiss in return.

★ ★ ★

YES, I ALSO KNOW the claims that are brought against mother-in-law . . . how they like to shove people around because of their greater knowledge and longer experience . . . how they interfere at times when loved ones battle . . . how they spoil the tiny tads. And since they are only human, these charges often are true. But for every time they pester there are a hundred times they bless.

Think back to those times, my dear. Better still, how about clipping this little article and sending it to your mother-in-law with my true love?

How It Started

By Jean Newton

The Sweet "Dessert" and Your "Just Deserts."

YOU may or may not deserve a good "dessert" with your dinner. In any case "deserve" points to the difference between the "dessert" which is a sweet and the "deserts" which are what you deserve.

"According to their deserts will I judge them" it is written in the Bible. These "deserts" share a common origin with the verb "to deserve" which is to merit. The term comes through the French "desirvir," from the Latin "deservire," to serve zealously—and thus "to deserve."

The "dessert" which concludes a meal comes also through the French, this time from "desservir" which is to clear the table, as it consists of the prefix meaning away plus "servir" to serve. Sticklers for etiquette will recall that it is correct to clear the table, carefully brushing away the crumbs, before serving the "dessert."

There is on record one portion of "dessert" which did not hold to the usual form of a satisfying sweet. It is in Alexander Pope's lines:

"An't please your honor," quoth the peasant,
"This same dessert is not so pleasant."

ANSWERS.

1. Libya. 2. Lake Superior. 3. Virgin Islands. 4. Chile. 5. The Elbe. 6. Solomon Islands. 7. Siam. 8. The American Samoan Islands.

Designing Woman

Comfort and Style

By Elizabeth Hillyer

A BEDROOM can be a complete and efficient bedroom—and add all the comforts of a living room—in a space no larger than 14 by 16 feet.

Designer Harold M. Schwartz proves it with this room. He fits in two large chests and one smaller one, a double bed, four tables and six seating pieces. There they are, 14 pieces of furniture, and the room looks spacious.

The room is simple but has the look of high fashion. The furniture is simple but unusual. Three new ideas make it unusual—the sculptured shapes of the wood pieces, the suspension construction of the bed and the headboard and the chests, and the way the backs of all pieces are finished with as fine detail as the fronts.

★ ★ ★

SCHWARTZ is a sculptor and an architect as well as a furniture designer and his furniture has long had the sculptured look that is now becoming a furniture trend. He models the original forms of the furniture in clay on wire frames, thus arms flare and curve and legs swell and taper in beautiful and individual shapes.

Suspension construction gives a light and airy look to oversize furniture, another reason, with the plan of arrangement, that a room of its size looks uncrowded while it's filled with so much furniture. The suspended form, too, may well become a trend. The largest chest is 58 inches long, but its eight lengthy drawers seem to float weightlessly. Top shelves of two chests are glass. In addition to the large bed, two tables are suspended from the 108-inch long headboard. Each table has two levels and can become a step table when slides for the purpose pull out to cover the drawers.

★ ★ ★

EVERY PIECE of furniture is made to be looked at from both sides. Any piece could turn its back to a window and, as you see, the smallest chest does to show the bevel outlining its edges. The large chest with the superstructure is seen from both sides as it serves as a room divider. It's a man's chest that has four drawers partitioned for his clothes and a mirror set into the door at face level. The same basic design, respaced, is also shown as a desk and as a china cabinet.

The wood used for all pieces except the sectional units and the small coffee table is cherry in a rich brown called carnelian. Sectionals and the coffee table are oak. With this chalk up another fashion note for this furniture—the new sophistication of cherry and the new combination of two kinds of woods. (Furniture shown at The Merchandise Mart in Chicago.)

Bow Motif for Spring

Jewelry and scarfs feature the bow motif for spring. A black and green striped organza sash is effective for a cocktail dress. Ropes of yellow beads are attractive looped into a bow on an Empire bodice. Oversize printed Windsor ties of paper taffeta are used to adorn a blouse. There are butterfly bows on scarfs and on pins.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

AN extremely interesting end-position could have been developed by the declarer in today's hand, but he did not quite bring it off.

East, dealer.

	♠J5 ♥KQJ8 ♦KJ10742 ♣6
♠72 ♥754 ♦Q63 ♣K9875	NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH	♠Q6 ♥A1032 ♦A985 ♣A103
	♠AK109843 ♥96 ♦— ♣QJ42

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1♥	Pass(!)	1N.T.	Pass
Pass	4♠	Pass	Pass
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened his top heart and East captured dummy's jack, while declarer wisely followed suit with the heart nine. The singleton club in dummy was menacing, so East shifted to the six of trumps. Declarer put up the ace, then played the spade king—it was hopeless to lead a club since the enemy would certainly return a trump—and after seeing the spade queen fall, South continued with trumps until he had only one left. East found it highly uncomfortable to discard safely on all these rounds of trumps, but he solved his problem admirably by keeping three hearts, the diamond ace, and the ace and three of clubs—he carefully got rid of his dangerous club 10. South now led a heart to dummy and ruffed a diamond, dropping East's ace, but when South next led a club, East could win with the ace and exit safely with the three-spot.

South did not go quite far enough with his plan—he should have cashed his last trump, keeping the K-Q-8 of hearts and the K-J of diamonds in dummy. East would have to hold three hearts and the diamond ace, and whether he kept the club ace or a low club, South could win the necessary three tricks. If East still had the club ace, he could be endplayed immediately by a club lead; if East kept a low club, South could lead the club queen and West could do nothing to relieve his partner.

The complications of this position are difficult to analyze on paper, but readers are urged to lay the cards out for themselves and note the interesting position which develops when South cashes every trump.

My Day

By Eleanor Roosevelt

JAIPUR, India.

LAST Tuesday we started out at 8:30 a.m. and drove to the Agenta caves. The director, who has been excavating here, accompanied us and showed us the best of the excavations. It would be impossible to cover all of them in a day or many days.

The difference between these caves and those at Ellora is that the emphasis here is on frescoes, most of which are badly damaged and probably can never be restored. But there are a few that are well worth while and show clearly the beauty that once was. Here, too, everything is hewn out of solid rock.

The caves are in a horseshoe shape in a ravine which is not as deep as our Grand Canyon but somewhat resembles it. The work was done during the first to the sixth centuries, though some are said to be even older than that. It is a strange, rather overwhelming human effort and a remarkable representation of Buddha and his followers.

★ ★ ★

ON WEDNESDAY MORNING we got up early and saw a number of the Ellora caves that we had not seen before, some Buddhist and one Hindu. We looked again with greater care at the caves we had liked the best. On the whole, these caves are most imposing—breathtaking in their beauty, and, as works accomplished by man with tools of the early days, they are almost incredible.

I had a press conference the evening before leaving Aurangebad, otherwise these days and the one in Agra were entirely given up to sightseeing.

We arrived in Agra early enough in the afternoon to drive out to Akbars fort, which was most interesting and part of it was remarkably well preserved. Then we drove back to see the Taj Mahal for the first time at sunset. But, finding mail at the Circuit House where we stayed, we delayed until the light was just beginning to fade. However, we did see it first at about 6:30 p.m. Then we went to see some religious dances.

After a quiet dinner we went back to see the Taj thoroughly by moonlight. I think of all the things I have seen in the world this is the most perfectly proportioned. The purity of the white marble makes the conception of the eternal purity of real love a very living thing. I escaped the guides as much as possible because I felt that this was perfection that one must feel and let sink in. It could not just be talked about.

★ ★ ★

THURSDAY morning we went back at 7 o'clock to see it again by morning light and get some pictures. Again it was just as impressive as it had been before and I hated to leave it.

After breakfast we visited the fort built partly by Mogul Emperor Shah-Jahan, who also put up the Taj Mahal, and after lunch we left for Jaipur. This is a beautiful town, laid out almost like a modern city, since it is only 200 years old.

We returned in time for a pleasant party at the Maharaja of Jaipur's, and we later went to see a folk dance which celebrated the harvesting of the crops.

Answer to Question 1.

ONE study indicated "Yes" in families where the fathers were in "extrovert occupations"—armed forces, executives, politicians, lawyers, farmers, abstract scientists, etc. Among 5400 children there were 120 boys to every 100 girls. But, among 1800 children of fathers in "introvert occupations"—actors, social workers, child-educators, artists, etc. —there were only 85 boys to every 100 girls. Children with fathers in religious or research work were about 50-50.

Answer to Question 2.

Not much. Dr. Detlev Bronk says (abridged), "What makes science is curiosity." We largely suppress it in childhood. Only the wisest parents and teachers encourage free curiosity in a child at the expense of their own ease and peace. Even in big industrial laboratories, scientists are told to work out certain problems. But nobody told Newton to discover gravitation, or Pasteur to discover microbes. "Nobody," he says, "can direct an explorer over unexplored territory."

Answer to Question 3.

To develop personality and influence people. Having coached many speakers, I agree with Lowell Thomas that "Training in public speaking quintuples a man's chances of success. If there is any better way for a man to boost himself, I have yet to hear about it."

Your Food Problems

Sunday Supper Party

By Edith M. Barber

SUNDAY night supper parties are favored by both hostess and guests. The hostess likes them because she can prepare appropriate dishes in advance, some of them even on Saturday. Guests like them because they are always informal and also because they are likely to see more of their hostess than on other occasions when she must spend more time in the kitchen.

A popular main dish is an attractive mold with a chicken, turkey or fish base. This is even better when prepared the previous day, as flavor ripens and you are certain that the mold will be solid enough to turn out easily.

By the way, the easiest way to persuade a mold to come out well is to run lukewarm water into the sink to the depth of several inches and let the mold stay in this a short time. Wipe it before you turn it upside down on the serving plate. If it still resists, replace it in the water for another moment or so. Salad greens should, of course, be used as a garnish.

With a cold dish of this sort, you will probably serve hot rolls or bread or muffins. Heated potato chips or French fried potatoes are also good, particularly because of their crispness. Either the frozen or the canned fried potatoes may be used.

CLAM ASPIC.

One 7-ounce can minced clams, one and one-fourth cups clam juice and water, one envelope unflavored gelatine, one-fourth cup cold tabasco, one teaspoon worcestershire sauce, one tablespoon lemon juice.

Drain clams and measure juice. Add water to make one and one-fourth cups, and heat. Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve in the hot liquid. Add tabasco, worcestershire sauce and lemon juice. Chill until syrupy. Add clams and chill until set. Turn out onto mold and serve garnished with salad greens. Pass Russian dressing.

SEA FOOD MOLD.

One envelope unflavored gelatin, one cup milk, two egg yolks, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon prepared mustard, one-fourth teaspoon tabasco, two tablespoons lemon juice, two cups flaked salmon or tuna.

Soften gelatin in cold milk in top of double boiler. Put over boiling water and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Combine the egg yolks, salt, mustard and tabasco and beat slightly. Add small amount of the milk to the egg yolk mixture and stir into mixture in double boiler. Cook over hot, not boiling water, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Remove from heat and cool. Stir in lemon juice and flaked fish. Turn into large or individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold and serve with dressed sliced cucumbers.

Yield: Six to eight servings.

Fix It Yourself

Remodeling Fireplaces.

ACCORDING to many interior decorators, a fireplace should do the same for a room that a new hat does for a woman, a new car for a man and a new bone for a dog.

But some of the fireplaces do just the opposite.

About the best thing to do for a fireplace that was obviously built by someone who has still a lot to learn about building fireplaces is to make it as inconspicuous as possible or cover it over.

The average fireplace can be made pretty inconspicuous by just painting it the same color as the surrounding walls. It will help matters if the mantle is removed too.

Another idea is to box in the fireplace with plaster or plasterboard so that only the opening and a small portion of the masonry is exposed to view. What you have to do here is first remove the mantle and then fasten

2 by 2 inch strips to the masonry to serve as a nailing base for the plaster board or the lath.

A variation on this is to cover the upper portion of the fireplace and chimney with plasterboard or plaster and install wood paneling on the lower portions—from the mantle down to floor level. Horizontal strips of 2 by 2 inch strips must be attached to the masonry for the paneling. Corners formed where the plasterboard or paneling join the existing wall surfaces can be covered over with strips of quarter round molding.

STOCKS ARE STEADY ON 410,000-SHARE TRADE

Close Finds 259 Issues Lower, 253 Higher and 250 Unchanged on Day.

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—In one of the quietest short sessions this year, the stock market held fairly steady today despite uncertainties aroused by the dispute in the steel industry between labor and management.

Prices covered a narrow fractional range either way with a few minor exceptions. Volume came to 410,000 shares as compared with 640,000 shares traded a week ago.

Of 762 issues traded 259 declined, 253 advanced, 250 were unchanged.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed unchanged at 101.4. The industrial and rail groups rose .1 of a point each.

Dow-Jones utility stock index closed at 50.44, a new 21-year peak price.

Motors Unchanged.

Steel issues themselves were a shade lower a great part of the time with an idle swinging from one side of the line to the other.

Motors were mostly unchanged. The railroads were more highly mixed than other major sections, but they were without feature.

Texas Pacific Land Trust opened on a block of 1100 shares up 3 at 158½ and then added a few more points.

Higher stocks included Bethlehem Steel, Studebaker, International Telephone, Chesapeake & Ohio, Northern Pacific, Eastern Air Lines, Philip Morris and U. S. Rubber.

Lower were Republic Steel, Air Reduction, General Electric, American Woolen, Southern Railway, Union Pacific and Texas Co.

Corporate bonds were narrowly mixed in light trading.

The market yesterday gained ground in the morning after the overnight decision of the Wage Stabilization Board to recommend wage increases for the CIO United Steelworkers union, which promptly postponed its strike set for midnight Sunday.

Caution Rules Today.

As the afternoon wore on, however, the market backed down while representatives of the steel industry drafted a reply to the WSB findings.

Many traders got out of the market altogether late in the session rather than risk a weekend in which unexpected developments might push the stock market violently about.

That same timidity and caution was evident today in the quietness of the market and the narrowness of price changes. Many brokers considered this steadiness proof of the market's internal strength in the face of such uncertainty.

Curb market stocks were mixed on the higher side. Moving up at times were Arkansas Natural Gas "A," Calvan Consolidated Oil, Canadian Atlantic Oil, International Petroleum, Pacific Petroleums and Toklan Royalty. Lower were South Penn Oil, Crystal Oil and Aspinook.

WET WEATHER IN CORN BELT LIFTS PRICES

CHICAGO, March 22 (AP)—Grains held within narrow limits on the Board of Trade today. After a slightly lower opening, the market attempted a rally. This carried most contracts above the previous close by large fractions, but the best gain were not maintained through to the close.

A little export buying stimulated wheat. However, the winter wheat crop in the southwest received more moisture and the bread grain was not able to make much headway against that development. Heavy snows in parts of the midwest corn belt created timid buying in feed grains.

This was the last day for trading in March contracts. Any open contracts still remaining at the close must be settled by delivery of the cash grain.

France bought two cargoes of hard wheat overnight for shipment during April and May. Holland took a cargo of corn for last half of May shipment.

Cash corn receipts totaled 141 cars. There was a possibility that some of the high moisture corn in Iowa will be held back, at least temporarily, by the weather in that state. Some cities reported snows ranging up to 7 inches overnight and with pretty strong winds.

Kansas also was getting a dose of winter weather. Reports to local houses mentioned a blizzard as some stations. The additional moisture won't do the winter wheat crop any harm, traders reasoned. The crop outlook all ready is quite good over most of the belt.

The Agriculture Department asked for offers of about 1,500,000 pounds of lard for the Army for use in the Ryukyu Islands.

WALTON CHORALIERS ALERT, PRESERVE BLEND IN CONCERT

The Walton Choraliers, 40-voice Negro chorus directed by Wirt D. Walton, gave a concert heard by several hundred persons last night at Sheldon Memorial. Nucleus for this group, organized two years ago, is made up of students and recent graduates of Stowe Teachers College, where Walton is head of the music department.

Last night's program included choral numbers by Bach, Handel, Gounod, Oley Speaks and concluded with a group of spirituals. The singing was frank and confident, though at times a little too loud for the excellent acoustics of the hall. Under Walton's capable baton, the singers were constantly on their toes to achieve the effects he asked for. The chorus has a good blend and the singers seemed to preserve it effortlessly. Balance slipped out of focus at times, but not enough to detract.

Members of the chorus who sang special solos were Eugene Bosley, Helen Beeks, Eugene Holmes and Bernice Hunt. Holmes displayed a most promising baritone voice. Miss Hunt, a 22-year-old soprano who has distinguished herself in previous appearances here, was the evening's most finished singer. Her performance of the "Voi lo Sapete" from "Cavalleria Rustican" combined good musicianship and schooling with a pleasing personality and easy dramatic projection. C.M.

STIX, BAER & FULLER NET $2.12 A SHARE IN 1951

Stix, Baer and Fuller in preliminary, unaudited report, shows indicated net profit for the year ended Feb. 2, 1952, of approximately $1,528,000, equivalent to $2.12 a share on common stock, after preferred dividend requirements. The earnings compare with net profit of $2,330,559 in 1950 fiscal year or $3.34 a share on common stock presently outstanding.

The company's outstanding common stock was increased during the year from 584,067 to 657,371 by the sale of 73,294 shares of authorized but unissued stock.

The earning figures take into consideration the Lifo inventory method that was adopted for the first time in 1950.

DEBITS TO INDIVIDUAL BANK ACCOUNTS A WEEKLY RECORD

Debits to individual accounts (checks cashed) of St. Louis Clearing House Association member banks in the five business days of the current week reached a new record high of $541,200,000. In the corresponding week last year the total was $501,400,000. The week covered the final day of Federal income tax payments.

HOGS, CATTLE PRICES DROP IN WEEK, LAMBS ARE HIGHER

ST. LOUIS LIVESTOCK EXCHANGE, National Stockyards, Ill., March 22—Hog receipts 50, consisting of pigs and sows; market on these about steady. Cattle and sheep receipts none.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, March 22 (USDA weekly review of livestock market)—Severe price resistance lowered values unevenly in week ended Friday, and in most cases sharply, on all classes of cattle, exceptions being a few of the high choice and prime steers. Other steers and heifers declined 50c to $1 or more, a like decline shown on cows, with bulls 50c to $1.25 lower. High good and choice vealers held steady. Others $1@2 lower. Choice steers and heifers went at $32.75@34.50 high choice and low prime 1134-pound steers $35.50, and 1233-pound $35.25, with high choice and prime 1141-pound mixed steers and heifers, $34. Good and low choice steers and heifers claimed $28@32.50. Utility and commercial cows cashed at $21@23.50. Individual head $24 and above. Commercial bulls opened the week at $27 down, closing sales $26 and below, with bulk utility and commercial bulls for the period at $23@26.50. Limited numbers of prime vealers reached $40, good and choice mostly $30@38, utility and commercials $20@28.

Compared with last Friday, hog prices closed mostly 25 to 50c lower and at the lowest point since late in April, 1950. Top prices ranged from $17.65 down to $17.10, that price paid Friday. For the week, bulk of choice 180 to 230 pounds sold at $16.85@17.60 with bulk Friday $16.75@17. Most 240 to 270 pounds for the week brought $15.85@17.25; 280 to 350 pounds, $15.50@16.25; some late down to $15.25. Most 150 to 170 pounds cleared at $15.25@17.25; 120 to 140 pounds $13@15.25. Sows ranged from $12.50@16; bulk $13@15.75.

Compared with last Friday, lambs were generally 50c to $1 higher, all advance occurring from midweek on; top of $27.50 highest since late February; local receipts nearly 50 per cent more than week previous, mostly received first two days; good and choice wooled lambs predominated. Bulk sales for week $25@26.25, or same as week before, the advance occurring too late to benefit bulk of offerings; only very small percentage $26.50@27.50; good and choice No. 1 and 2 skins which comprised 25 per cent of run bulked at $24@26, top $26 for pelts shorter than fall-shorn; yearlings scarce; few lots mostly good $22@22.50; few choice to $24; most slaughter ewes $12@14.

COMMODITY INDEX IS SHADE LOWER FOR THE WEEK

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Wholesale commodity prices, as measured by the Associated Press commodity index, declined just a shade this week. At 186.53 the index compared with 186.56 last week and 212.20 a year ago. The base year of this index of 35 important wholesale commodity prices is 1926 and equals 100.

The food, livestock and textile components of the index all dipped to new 1951-52 lows this week, but commodities in the industrials and grains and cotton groups were higher. Nonferrous metals were unchanged.

The index, with comparable figures for last week and a year ago, follows:

	March 21	Week Ago.	Year Ago.
35 Commodities	186.53	186.56	212.20
Industrials	177.82	177.23	201.43

CHAPTER 35.
(Conclusion.)

THE nurse beat a steady "tap, tap, tap" along Jan's spine. She lay on a rubbing table in Dr. Webster's hospital, where she had spent the night.

The massage was relaxing her. She couldn't remember the last time she had been fully relaxed.

But the nurse wanted to talk.

"It must be wonderful to be a heroine," the girl said. "And think of all the money you'll get for that reward! What will you do with it?"

"Haven't given it a thought," Jan said lazily.

"I saw your picture in the Ledger this morning. Maybe you'll get in the movies."

"Not me," Jan said firmly.

"Oh, I would! I'd love to go to Hollywood," the nurse sighed.

"What did you think, when the police saved you?"

"I couldn't think. I was too confused, and too scared."

"You thought that Nick was going to shoot you I bet."

"I didn't know he was going to faint from the pain," Jan replied. "It was quite a relief."

"He's a bad one. They took him and his sister and her husband off to the Redmond jail. I saw 'em leave City Hall."

Jan was getting tired of the chatter. But she didn't want to be rude.

"What was the biggest surprise, Miss Jan?" the girl asked.

"You mean last night?"

"Yes, when you were rescued."

"Well, the first big surprise was that the police had been able to work so fast, and block all the roads on the other side of the mountain. The second was when I saw Cortland in a trooper's uniform, and wearing dark glasses."

"Is he a cop?"

"No. They put the uniform on him to get him out of jail. White wanted the Fords and Nick to think Courtland had escaped. It was the only way they could get him out of jail in daylight. Dress him like a trooper and keep him with them."

"They think of everything, don't they?"

"Almost. I think I've had enough. I'll go home now."

★ ★ ★

AFTER she dressed and left the hospital, Jan had to fight her way through the streets. She was stopped by all the villagers who wanted to hear her version of the eventful night.

Tracy White was waiting for her at home.

"I want to ask a favor," he said. "You remember Sid Hughes, the reporter? He did me a great favor on this case, and I promised I'd do something for him. Will you give him an hour or so, and let him make pictures, here and around the village?"

"For you, yes," Jan said frankly. "I don't really want to."

"That's great," Tracy said. "I have to keep in good with the boys. They help us a lot."

Tracy then told Jan of the later developments in the case.

"We finally got Zarda's record," he said. "He has been involved in dope running, bookmaking and other offenses. Ford has no record. He was talked into this job by his wife, who is the real criminal. It seems that when she came to the hospital for treatments, which she really needed then, she saw how much money was handled carelessly in the hospital office. She framed it with her husband and brother to rob the place. They stole two cars, one for the job, the other for the getaway. Then, the last minute, Mrs. Dawson told Mrs. Ford that a big shipment of currency was being sent by the bank here to Blake City. She said her husband had been asked to guard the postmaster when the fast mail came in the morning.

"Greedy Mrs. Ford wanted that money in the mail. Nick refused, knowing the danger of robbing the mails. They got him hopped up and then he agreed. He was hopped when they held up the mail, that's why he shot so fast. He was the one who shot."

"I can't understand anyone being so cruel," Jan said.

Tracy continued his story.

"After the holdup, Ford who was driving, let Nick take the wheel. Ford got out of the car and walked back to the scene and made himself known. This was for his alibi. Nick drove to the picnic grove, changed cars, drove to the abandoned farm and planted the loot and the car, returned to the lake and planted Cortland's stolen clothes, then went back to the city.

"It was a carefully planned plot to make it appear Cortland had committed the crime. Then they both stayed here in the village to give further evidence of their 'innocence.' That had us fooled for a while."

Tracy smiled.

"It was a quick case, and a satisfactory one, thanks to you. Now that it's cleaned up, perhaps we can meet socially sometime."

"Perhaps," Jan said slowly.

"Thanks for posing for pictures. I'll contact you about the reward."

★ ★ ★

WHEN he left, Jan and her mother had a good cry.

"I'll not let you out of my sight again!" Mrs. Valentine said.

"Oh yes, you will. And right now."

"Where are you going?"

"I'm getting out of here before those photographers arrive. I'm not up to pictures just yet. Later, not now."

Jan went out the back way, and walked through the woods.

She circled around the town and was soon at the lake.

Jan walked slowly toward David's trailer. As she came closer she heard the steady clatter of his typewriter.

She sat on a grassy bank and stared at the trailer, without seeing it. She found herself counting the taps of the keys as David typed.

Arising she walked quietly toward the open door. David had his back to her, and was concentrating on his work.

She slipped inside, and stood behind him.

Then, like a schoolgirl, she put her arms about him and covered his eyes with her hands.

He leaped up, knocking over his chair. Then his arms were around her and he kissed her. After a moment he pushed her back, looked her in the face and said: "You little devil; Where have you been? You've got your nerve, keeping me waiting!"

Jan was indignant. So he took her for granted! He had expected her to run and throw herself at him.

"What right had you to expect me?" she demanded. "Why should I come to you?"

David grinned. His face lighted up, and he said:

"Well, honey, you came, didn't you?"

Jan flushed. She was angry now.

"I didn't come to see you," she declared. "And you weren't waiting for me, either. You sat here typing your silly old novel, without another thought in the world."

David grabbed her by both wrists, and held them so tightly she cried out. He pulled her face close to his.

"So I wasn't waiting for you? I was writing deathless prose without another thought in the world? Look!"

He nodded toward the paper in his typewriter. Jan's eyes followed his as he held her close to him.

Written, over and over, on the paper, was a paraphrase on the familiar old practice sentence for stenographers:

"Now is the time for a certain girl to come to the aid of this party."

Jan laughed a little hysterically.

He held her in his powerful arms and whispered in her ear: "I thought you'd come, because I know you love the lake. Of course, if you hadn't, I'd have followed you—anyplace!"

They heard the sound of a motor.

"That would be Margaret," Jan said sadly.

"It wouldn't be Margaret," he told her. "She's been here already. She won't be back."

A photographer started unpacking his gear from the car outside and a reporter lumbered up to the door.

"It's Sid Hughes, from the Ledger," Jan told David.

"How did you know I was here?" she demanded of Sid.

"Your mother."

"But mother didn't know."

Sid eyed her appraisingly.

"Mothers know everything," he said. "Jeepers, what a story!"

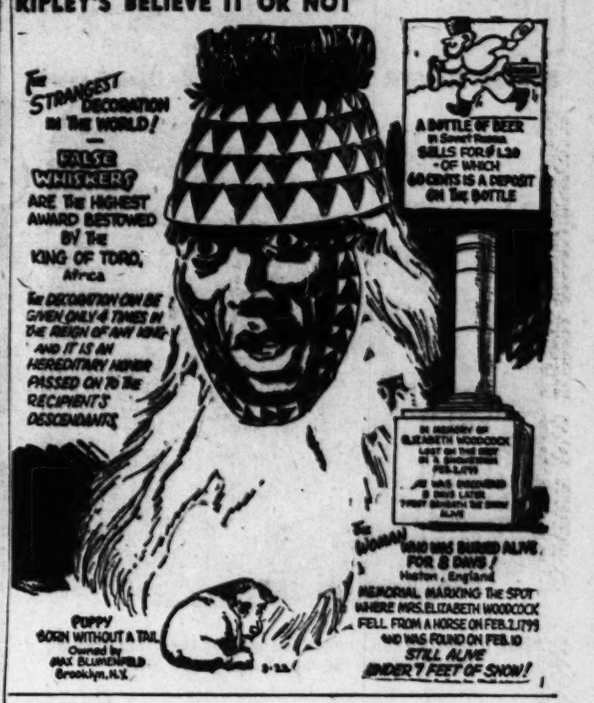

"Hey, Big Boy, how's about picking her up and toting her across the threshold for our first picture?"

And David did.

OUT OUR WAY—By J. R. Williams

Uncle Ray's Column

By Ramon Coffman

A LETTER about the Belgian Congo has come from Mrs. Austin Van Billiard. She writes:

"I read with great interest your article about the Belgian Congo. My husband and I, with our five young children, were pioneers in the town of Elizabethville. We traveled there from Cape Town, partly by train and partly by mule team. That was 41 years ago. We stayed about 10 months.

"I have heard that Elizabethville is now a fine and prosperous city. While we were there, we lived in huts with thatched roofs. My children were the first white children in the settlement, but families from Belgium soon came as colonists.

"The climate was terrible. No domestic animals could survive because of the flies and other insects."

★ ★ ★

THANK YOU, Mrs. Van Billiard. It must be interesting to contrast your present life with what you have found in that area! Elizabethville now has close to 20,000 residents, and the entire Belgian Congo has a population of more than a million.

A NOVA SCOTIA reader asks whether the words "kudu" and "voodoo" are of African origin.

The answer is "yes." The word "kudu" came from the language of the Hottentots, who are tribesmen of South Africa.

A kudu is a large-sized antelope with grayish brown hair. It is found in the area where the Hottentots live.

The word "voodoo" arose from a language spoken by Negroes of the coast of Nigeria in western Africa. This area has the old name of Slave Coast; it used to be a place where many slaves were obtained by Frenchmen and others.

Voodoo, or voodooism, was carried to the New World by Negroes. It is a religion of a sort, and some persons of today speak of it as having black magic in it. Those who teach voodoo charms to others are described as "voodoos." Voodooism is followed today chiefly by the residents of the island of Haiti.

To Uncle Ray,
Care of the Post-Dispatch,
St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Uncle Ray: I want to join the 1952 Uncle Ray Scrapbook Club, and I enclose a stamped envelope carefully addressed to myself. Please send me a Membership Certificate, a leaflet telling how to make a Corner Scrapbook of my own, and a printed design to paste on the cover of my scrapbook.
